FCC To Reconsider Grant Of Miami's TV Channel 10

Takes Note Of Charges In Inquiry

Asks Appeals Court To Return Case So It Can Be Reviewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission today moved to reconsider its grant of TV channel 10 at Miami, Fla., central case in a house investigation that led to the resignation of Commissioner Richard A. Mack.

The commission, taking note of charges in the House investigation that pressures may have entered into the award, filed a motion in the U. S. Court of Appeals requesting that the case be returned to the FCC for further review.

By a 4-2 vote last year, the FCC awarded the channel to Public Service Television Inc., a subsidiary of National Airlines.

Two Cases Before Court
The FCC decision is now before the Appeals Court in two proceedings.

In one of these, WKAT Inc., an unsuccessful bidder for the channel, is challenging FCC's refusal of last September to reconsider the grant to Public Service.

The other Appeals Court case was brought by Eastern Airlines, which asked the court to overrule an FCC order which denied Eastern the right to intervene in the Channel 10 proceeding as a protestant.

The commission move for return of the case to it came as the House investigating committee was continuing its inquiry into financial relations between Mack and Therman White, a wealthy Miami attorney and long-time friend of the ex-commissioner.

Grand Jury Probing, Too
A federal grand jury also is looking into the case.

White acknowledged making loans and giving other financial assistance to Mack, but insists there was nothing improper.

At one time, White said he was plugged for award of the channel to Public Service Television but was never an attorney of record in the case and has testified he refused an offer of employment by the law firm which was handling Public Service's application.

Also on tap for a return appearance was A. Frank Katzentine, Miami Beach radio station operator who lost his bid for TV Channel 10 in Miami.

Hooded Thug Robs Quartet

UPPER MERIDEN, Md. (AP) — A hooded bandit who accented his orders with gunfire robbed four men in a filling station about six miles north of here early today.

The victims included the Rev. Augustus Kenney of Alexandria, La., and his son, who were on their way to Ft. Dix, N.J., to visit another son stationed there.

Police were told he took $31 from the minister's wallet, $33 from his son Augustus Jr. and $114 from Frank H. Bowie, station attendant. The wallet of the fourth man, Willie Reio, a friend of Bowie who lived nearby, was empty.

Atrocious Spelling Found In College Student Check

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Toport, minus the identifying marks, mummy Ohio State Unavurstie students cant spel fer nuthin.

The hilarious — but somewhat dismaying — spelling foibles of today's college students have come to light in the latest issue of the Ohio State University Monthly.

Sadly enuf (pardon, enough), spelling purists should know that many of the odd-ball spellings in the first paragraph were lifted from documents that the students themselves filled out.

The report on atrocious spelling was made by Dr. William T. Palchian and Dr. William C. Stahl of the university medical staff. They went to the trouble of putting quotation marks around the misspelled words, but here are some excerpts from their re-

Tunisia Asks U. S. Support In Ultimatum

To Refute Allegiance To West If Answer Not In By Thursday

TUNIS (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba today called on Secretary of State Dulles to support Tunisia by next Thursday in her dispute with France or lose Tunisia's allegiance to the West.

Bourguiba canceled public celebrations of the second anniversary of independence from France and warned that Tunisia might have to fight France again.

In his weekly radio speech Bourguiba said: "We are not truly free. It is not excluded that we will take up fight again."

March 20 'Fatal Date'
March 20, the independence anniversary, "is the fatal date," he continued. "I hope that between now and then our misunderstanding with the free world will be dissipated."

He said he would speak to the Constituent Assembly on March 20 and tell them whether Tunisia would turn away from the free world.

At Crossroads
"We are at the crossroads," he declared. "We must choose. You know my strength for the free world which is not dictated by personal interests but by the fact I share the interests of the free world."

"Dulles holds the key to the problem. He must decide. His decision will not hurt France, for to be a supporter of justice is to save France from her own weaknesses."

Queen, Princess Welcome Mother

LONDON (INS) — Queen Elizabeth II and Princess Margaret today welcomed their globe-trotting mother home from a long visit to Australia and New Zealand.

Queen Mother Elizabeth flew the last leg, Malta to London, in a British Overseas Airways Britannia because of three mishaps to the Qantas Airliner in which she had been traveling.

25 U. S. Moons Will Orbit Soon, Killian Predicts

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The United States soon will have 25 satellites whirling around in outer space, says Dr. T. J. Killian, deputy director and chief scientist of the Office of Naval Research.

While satellites have no value as launching platforms, Killian said, he thinks they are of military value for surveillance and communications.

"They can serve as relay points for communications," he said in an interview. "And when we have 25 satellites in the air, as we soon will, they could even serve as double relay points."

SEATO Hits 'Neutralists', Red Danger

Only Slight Increase In Economic Help Promised Nations

MANILA (AP) — The SEATO Council ended its fourth annual conference today with a swipe at neutralist nations which won't recognize the dangers of communism and a promise of only slightly more economic aid to help the Asian pact members develop their resources.

The foreign ministers of the eight nations outlined the results of their meeting in a 1,200-word communique which pinpointed "the insidious character" of Communist subversion as Southeast Asia's "most substantial current menace."

Without naming them, the council warned "some non-Communist governments" against "failing to distinguish between the aims and ideals of the free world and the purposes of international communism." The communique said because of "the insidious character of Communist subversions, there was particular danger arising" from these governments.

Forces Diversion
The foreign ministers said SEATO collective security measures had forced a diversion of Communist activities in the area from the military to the nonmilitary field. It warned of Red "activity in the economic, political and cultural field, and also activity within youth and labor organizations."

The communique announced no big new program of economic aid to meet Pakistani charges that such neutral nations as India were getting more help than free world allies.

Instead the Council of Ministers pointed out that SEATO's three Asian members — Pakistan, Thailand and the Philippines — had gotten more than 700 million dollars in economic aid in the past year, principally from the United States.

Economic Setup Continues
The communique said the programs of extensive bilateral and other economic arrangements between the SEATO countries would continue. In addition, it cited U.S. Secretary of State Dulles' announcement that the United States would put up two million dollars (Continued from Page 9)

Ike Accepts Resignation Of Brundage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Percival F. Brundage resigned today as director of the budget.

President Eisenhower appointed Maurice H. Stans, now deputy director, to succeed Brundage.

Eisenhower also named Robert E. Merriam, currently an assistant to the director, as deputy chief of the bureau.

In a letter to Eisenhower made public by the White House, Brundage said he is stepping down because he "must attend to some personal matters that have been neglected."

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said "of course not" when asked whether Brundage was leaving because of any fiscal policy differences with the administration at this time of business recession.

Eisenhower accepted Brundage's resignation "with great regret and reluctance."

Brundage has served as budget director since April 2, 1956. Eisenhower chose him to succeed Rowland H. Hughes.

Brundage had been deputy budget director since May 1954. Before that he was a senior partner in the Price Waterhouse accounting firm.

Three Saved From Death

PARIS (AP) — The French Superior Council of the Magistrature today decided to commute the death penalty imposed on Djamilia Bouhired, 21-year-old Algerian girl.

A French military court's death sentence had stirred protests from many parts of the world. It had also troubled the conscience of France.

The Council also commuted the death sentences of two older women in Algeria.

In all, five women have been condemned to death in Algeria, but three of the sentences have been commuted.

There was no indication of the length of the prison sentences to be imposed, but it was generally supposed to be life.

Djamilia Bouhired was sentenced for complicity in two terrorist bombings in Algiers. One person was killed and 40 injured.

LEOPOLD LEAVES PRISON — Nathan Leopold, imprisoned 33½ years for his part in the thrill slaying of 14-year-old Bobby Franks, leaves Statesville Penitentiary at Joliet, Ill., this morning. On parole, Leopold will take a job in a hospital in Puerto Rico. (AP Photos)

Leopold Ends Prison Term For New Life

Plans To Head For Puerto Rico After Meeting Relatives

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — Nathan Leopold, who served 33½ years in prison for a bobbled effort to commit a perfect murder, walked to freedom today determined to become a perfect example of prison rehabilitation.

Leopold waved his hat as he stepped through the gates of the administration building. He was surrounded immediately by newsmen.

There were few townspeople from nearby Joliet on hand as Leopold ended his long prison sentence.

Escorted By Warden
Leopold was escorted to the prison gate by Warden Joseph Ragen. He walked slowly, almost casually.

The much publicized prisoner then handed out copies of a mimeographed statement to newsmen.

After a secret meeting with relatives in Chicago, he plans to fly to Puerto Rico for a 10-a-month job as a laboratory worker in a mission hospital.

Paroled Five Years
The Illinois Parole and Pardon Board approved his request to take the job, thus authorizing his release on parole for five years.

He was officially granted the parole last month but his release was delayed pending investigation of job offers.

In 1924, Leopold, son of a wealthy Chicago family, and Richard Loeb, his fellow University of Chicago student, committed what they thought was the "perfect crime" — the murder of a neighbor boy, 14-year-old Bobby Franks.

War Veteran Dividend Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans Administration will pay a special dividend of 32 million dollars in April and May to about 325,000 holders of World I government insurance. That averages nearly $100 per policyholder.

Administrator Sumner G. Whittier, announcing the payment today, said the special dividend is in addition to the regular annual dividend for 5,300,000 World War I and World War II holders of GI insurance.

The regular dividend of 262 million dollars is being paid out at the rate of 22 million dollars a month.

Soviets Help U.S. Company Save Fortune

WASHINGTON (AP) — A case where the Soviets actually did invent something first turned up today. The result: an American company saved about a million dollars.

The story was given to a House Appropriations subcommittee by the National Science Foundation in asking for more money to spread information on scientific advances. The testimony was made public today.

The foundation said it happened this way:

An American chemical company which was not identified, recently prepared a dye, pyrazolone-5, and sought a patent because of the dye's importance in color photography. It turned out the compound already was covered by a Swiss patent.

But a U.S. chemist, in a chance conversation with a Soviet chemist at an international meeting, learned that the Soviets had already published a description of the dye in a chemical journal in 1949.

The Soviet article helped knock out the Swiss patent and allowed the American firm a saving of about a million dollars in royalties.

Breast Cancer To Affect 50,000 Women In U. S.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There will be 50,000 cases of breast cancer in American women next year and 17,000 of the victims will die, says Dr. Ralph R. Coffey, director of surgery at the Kansas City General Hospital.

He said many women, discovering a lump in the breast, nevertheless are afraid to consult a physician, partly because they fear cancer, partly because they fear breast disfigurement.

Dr. Coffey explained that it is possible to make a submammary crease incision that is not visible after the operation, regardless of where the lump in the breast has appeared. He has pioneered a radical incision method that leaves no disfigurement, bypasses the blood supply that courses through the domed wall of muscles, and yet his patients have full use of their arms within two days of the operation.

Seek Facing Up To Task, Urge Action

Administration Waits To Assess Results Of Stepped-Up Spending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional Democrats prodded the Eisenhower administration today for an early decision on possible antirecession tax cuts.

The administration, meanwhile, waited to assess the results of stepped-up spending programs it has ordered and recommended before deciding whether a tax cut is needed to spur production and create jobs.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and his assistant Sen. Mansfield of Montana urged action to make it clear whether there are going to be tax reductions and what kind.

Quick Face Up
Johnson told the Senate that "we will face up — I hope very quickly — to the question of tax cuts." Saying that he hasn't reached any firm conclusion himself, he added: "But I believe we owe it to our fellow Americans to end the suspense at the earliest possible moment."

Mansfield said in an interview he is glad Secretary of the Treasury Anderson has announced he will confer with leaders of both parties on the tax question.

"I hope these conferences are held quickly and the results announced immediately," he said. "The people ought to be told where they stand."

Anderson announced that the administration will delay any tax decision until "the future course of the economy has been clarified." That left up in the air the timing for any possible tax cut move.

Byrd Opposes Cut

Chairman Byrd (D-Va.) of the Senate Finance Committee, who opposes reductions now, said any tax cut is likely to cost the Treasury up to seven billion dollars in revenue and bring on a $4-billion deficit.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a $1,850,000,000 housing bill which its sponsors say could increase by 200,000 the number of new homes planned this year and provide jobs for more than 500,000 workers in construction and related industries.

Also passed by a 93-1 Senate vote was a resolution calling for a stepup in civil public works projects as a means of providing additional jobs. The resolution has no legal force.

The House Armed Services Committee voted 24-2, for a similar resolution applying to military construction projects, but even before it acted Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles announced a two-billion-dollar increase in construction plans for the next five months.

Labor Chiefs, Ike Hold Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top labor union leaders headed for a White House conference with President Eisenhower today to plug for a tax cut and other quick antirecession moves.

The group led by AFL-CIO President George Meany and Walter Reuther, auto union chief and AFL-CIO economic chairman, said in advance they would stress a need for urgent action on a variety of fronts.

Meany and Reuther both have called for hiking individual tax exemptions, broadening the amount and duration of jobless payments, and expanding public works spending for schools, roads, hospitals and housing. Both said no single plan is sufficient to reverse the business downturn.

Rand Denies Charge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Donald Rand of the United Auto Workers denied today that he or the union planned or staged a 1955 near riot which marked the long UAW strike against the Kohler Co.

But Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) told Rand: "I think you know a lot more than you are telling."

Pallow was being questioned this morning by county detective Russell Meskow. No charges have been filed as yet police said.

Jakarta Units Take Control Of Oil Fields

Sumatra Paratroops Reopen U. S.-Owned Area; Rebels Deny

JAKARTA, (AP)—Premier Djuanda today claimed that Jakarta paratroopers had captured the American-owned Caltex oil fields near Pekanbaru in Central Sumatra.

The rebel regime in Central Sumatra disputed earlier government claims that paratroopers dropped on the Pekanbaru airfield yesterday and a combat regiment had captured the nearby town of Pekanbaru.

Djuanda said capture of the oil field would permit Caltex to resume operations "if the company so desires." Evacuation of American personnel from the area would no longer be necessary, he told newsmen.

Shut Down Monday

The company shut down operations last Monday and evacuated a few women and children at the suggestion of the Djuanda government.

The Jakarta regime announced some 300 paratroopers who dropped on the Pekanbaru airport and a combat regiment that followed them in had taken over the town of 50,000. The big Minas oil field is about 20 miles upriver from the town.

Rebels Continue Fight

However, a broadcast from the rebel center of Padang, on Sumatra's west coast 125 miles southwest of Pekanbaru, claimed rebel troops had surrounded the invaders and fighting continued. The rebel radio said the casualties on both sides were heavy.

The rebels, meanwhile, awaited naval attack on Padang. Two small warships of Jakarta's navy warned two freighters in Padang Harbor to leave or face destruction, indicating an assault was imminent.

Navy Project Vanguard Flounders; Army Given Third Satellite Approval

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—

The Navy's Project Vanguard, grounded by repeated frustrations, apparently floundered in serious difficulty today.

None of the officials in charge would comment. The Navy has lowered a strict curtain of secrecy over its space research program, dogged by misfortune.

There were definite indications a Vanguard satellite launching might be days or even weeks away.

Meanwhile, the rival Army Jupiter-C program, despite troubles of its own, pushed to the fore.

Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker said in Washington that launching of a third Explorer satellite has been authorized.

The Navy called off its third attempt in a week to launch the Vanguard three-stage rocket with a grapefruit-size satellite in its nose.

It blamed technical difficulties which slowed the test beyond the time that liquid oxygen could be retained in the rocket without freezing the valves and other sensitive fittings.

Experts said it may prove that so much work is required to get the shopworn Vanguard back into condition that a launching may be out of prospect for possibly weeks.

An Army spokesman said the Army has five additional Jupiter-C rocket combinations which will be used to put up satellites.

The Army launched its first Explorer satellite successfully Jan. 31, using the four-stage Jupiter-C.

The communique also called attention to Dulles' statement that the major portion of U.S. economic aid now is going to Asia.

Dulles himself made a personal effort to soothe Pakistan. After the final conference session, he drove off with Commerce Minister N.M.A. Qizilbash, the Pakistani delegate, for a private talk.

Father Fined For 'Truant' Son, Appeals

READING, Pa. (AP)—A Quaker father is appealing a $2 fine for not sending his 11-year-old son to public school. He says public schools lack religious instruction.

John H. McCandless of nearby Alburts presented that argument yesterday in Berks County Court. The court had imposed the fine ruling that young Christopher is not getting enough instruction to meet the compulsory school attendance law.

McCandless and his wife, both members of the Religious Society of Friends and both college graduates, had sent Christopher to public school through the fourth grade, tutoring him themselves on the side.

Now they send him to a fifth-grade class at a Friends school. But the boy goes only one day a week because the school is 47 miles away. On the other days his parents tutor him.

Tax Cut

(Continued from Page 1) of taxable income — in effect a 25 per cent cut there. A 5 per cent cut would be provided in all other personal income tax rates.

If enacted, this cut would mean another $2 of weekly spendable income for the average married taxpayer with two dependents who earns $5,000 a year.

For the taxpayer in the $10,000 income bracket, the tax saving is estimated in the neighborhood of $3 a week.

Hershey Opposes Cutback In Draft

WASHINGTON (INS)—Outspoken Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the nation's Selective Service, has warned Congress that "if you cut out the draft, you have just about thrown in your hand" in the cold war.

And, in a statement that could easily cause an international incident, the general said that England, by promising to end its draft in 1960, "is playing now in a Class B league... She is not in a major league any more."

Raps Cordier Report

At the same time, Hershey took an oblique slap at the Cordier military pay plan by saying you can't buy guts in a soldier. The three-star officer said, in effect, he'd rather have "a stupid person you can trust" than some highly skilled technician who would be "scared to death" and have shaking hands when the whistle blows.

The Cordier report, now being considered by the Congress, urges premium pay for technicians in order to keep them in service.

Hershey made known his views as he appeared before a House Appropriations Committee to urge extension of the draft. His testimony was made public today.

Red Propaganda Advantage

After insisting that "We shall never buy... devotion and dedication" in the armed forces, General Hershey said "I do not think it (the Cordier pay raise proposal) will provide the number of people they expect."

General Hershey said that this nation, which is drafting 13,000 men a month, might give a "great propaganda advantage" to Russia by halting the draft. Saying "we must back up our words," the general declared that unless there is a show of strength "You hurt our allies... you hurt yourself and encourage not only the Russians, satellite countries, but you begin to make the neutrals feel that they better stay neutral or move a little bit toward the fellow with the big area."

Disability Fight Opens

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republicans squared off today for a closed-door fight with Democrats over presidential disability legislation.

The Republicans were encouraged in advance by a Senate subcommittee's acceptance of President Eisenhower's views on the matter.

Scene of the battle was the House Judiciary Committee, which was set to take up again the controversial problem of providing for a temporary succession by the vice president if the president becomes disabled.

Rain, Winds, Snowstorms Lash Nation

By The Associated Press

Rain, wind and snowstorms lashed wide areas of the country today, with Southern and Western sections hit hardest by the late winter storms.

A belt of rain or snow extended from Florida west, northwestward through the central Rockies.

Heavy snow fell from northern Arkansas and southwestern Missouri westward to the Continental Divide. Falls in some parts of Missouri measured 6 inches, with 4 to 5 inches general in Kansas and Oklahoma. Snow on the ground at Russell, Kan., was more than a foot deep.

The heavy, wet snow, with fog in some areas, cut visibility to less than half a mile. The snow was expected to spread into western and central Nebraska and western South Dakota.

The heaviest snowfall since 1906 blanketed El Paso, on the Texas-Mexico border, with a covering of 7 1/2 inches on the usually balmy Texas city.

Thunderstorms and winds whipped the Florida peninsula during the night.

A violent windstorm hit the Miami area. Heaviest damage was a Pompano Beach, 30 miles north of Miami, where four persons were injured, one seriously. Seven house trailers were overturned as winds of 30 m.p.h. pounded the area.

Air Force Apologizes To Community For 'Bombing'

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP)—The Air Force has apologized to this lowland community of 30,000 for the accidental dropping of an unarmed atomic bomb.

The atomic portion of the bomb did not go off, but its TNT trigger exploded, blowing up a house and digging a crater 40 feet wide.

In Washington, Secretary of Defense McElroy confirmed that the area was uncontaminated by radioactivity.

Air Force crews were at work removing scars left by the explosion when the bomb accidentally fell from a B47.

Mayor David McLeod at City Hall got an apology for the incident from Maj. Gen. Charles B. Dougher of Hunter AFB, Ga., the bomber's base.

High-ranking officers and claims personnel toured the two-mile-square area surrounding the impact point near the shattered Walter Gregg house five miles east of here. Gregg, his wife, their three children and a niece were injured, none seriously.

Air Force authorities explained the bomb did not set off a nuclear explosion because it lacked the complete triggering device. The accidental bomb release was attributed to malfunctioning equipment.

Stevenson Supports Summit Conference

NEW YORK (AP)—Adlai Stevenson voiced support last night for an East-West summit conference on world armament control, but agreed with the Eisenhower administration that the conference should be preceded by lower-level talks.

Stevenson, former Democratic presidential candidate, took part in a transatlantic radio discussion with Hugh Gaitskill, British Labor party leader, and Pierre Mendès-France, former French premier.

Stevenson said an East-West agreement on one point alone—discontinuing hydrogen weapons test with suitable inspection provisions—would relieve "the most terrifying aspect of our contemporary scene."

While he favors a summit meeting, he said, the Western nations should get together beforehand.

and decide on their joint position in order to present a solid front against the Soviet Union at such a meeting.

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Railroad Story

INCREASINGLY in this country we seem to accept policies of drift as a normal response to problems. Nowhere is this more clearly seen than in the evident indifference which greets the dilemma of the nation's hard-pressed railroad system. The railroads' financial and other difficulties are well known now. They have told their story to Congress, and appealed for action. But wise heads in Washington question whether anything measurable will be done. A nation so basically prosperous as ours can suffer more than a few economic invalids within its midst and still go bowling along. The coal industry was in straits for years, and its revival of recent times may be wearing out. Agriculture is plagued with chronic afflictions.

THE POSITION of the rails, however, is a little more crucial. They're still a very big part of our economic circulatory system. For all their losses to competing air, truck and pipe lines, they carry half the country's freight. Nothing that has happened has changed the fact that the railroads are the cheapest means of hauling bulk freight—except for waterways which cannot serve all areas. In wartime this fundamental characteristic makes them of life and death importance. From 1940 to 1944, for instance, they doubled the freight tonnage they carried. In another war their burdens would be even heavier. Right now their business has tailed off with the decline in general economic levels. But in better times, even when they are losing relative strength to competitors, their freight loads have mounted to peacetime highs and their equipment has been pressed beyond reasonable limit.

WITH EARNINGS shaky before the recession struck, the rails cannot attract new investment money and cannot finance improvements out of profits. Yet the more their equipment ages and deteriorates, the worse their competitive position becomes. Specialists feel the railroads are in the rigid grip of vastly outdated regulatory laws, particularly as they relate to rate-making, maintenance of service and tax burdens. Congress holds the answer but appears disinclined to move. It will act only if an aroused public gives it a push. Evidently that can happen only if the American citizenry can be made to understand how serious it is in peacetime—and how perilous it would be in war—to try to sustain indefinitely a nation whose great rail system is anemic and withering.

IF YOU THINK traffic has been heavy of late, just wait until that first really mild and mellow spring Sunday comes along.

The Oracles Speak

A NEWSPAPER analyst has written to declare that the recent union of Jordan and Iraq is a blow to Nasser. Is this true? It is too soon to know. Jordan's position is insecure. Iraq's internal stability is a questionable matter. This illustration is cited in order to point out the fact that too many American commentators judge with in-explicable celerity and write with an oracular air of authority. Superficial evaluations are becoming a stock-in-trade for experts, so-called. Why is this? Who is responsible? Is it necessary? And no one keeps track of the false and shallow judgments which are fed to us: the oracles conveniently ignore past errors in judgment and interpretation. This is all unnecessary. It is possible to stay on top of events, write interestingly and yet not become the Voice of History every third day. We must judge, but we do not have to do so before there is evidence and sufficient reason for judging. The Jordan-Iraq union may be a blow to Nasser; it may be an opportunity. A struggle goes on, and it is too soon to evaluate and predict with much confidence. In this situation there is a lesson for commentators eager to rush in with conclusions before firm conclusions are warranted. Such comments confuse, rather than educate.

EGGS ARE rather like ideas. They tend to decline in value if they go too long unused.

Spuds, Not Sputniks, Hold First Place

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in the "Statement Series" column by distinguished personalities in government, business, national affairs and the military who will write guest columns for Thomas L. Stokes, who is seriously ill.

WASHINGTON — A friend of mine said to me recently, "The people back home are more concerned with spuds than they are with sputniks." It was his way of pointing to the economic recession that has been spreading through the nation and to the fact that it is beginning to take precedence over foreign policy questions in people's minds. The man happened to be talking about people in Montana. He might just as well have had in mind people in Michigan, Pennsylvania, Oregon, Maine or a dozen other states. To date, the recession has hit hardest at mining, timbering and heavy industrial areas. Its effects, however, are felt throughout the nation.

WE SHALL not gain anything by wringing our hands in despair over this situation. Neither shall we gain anything by whistling in the dark. The important thing is for the Administration to take an honest look at where the nation's economy stands and to do something constructive about it. That is what has not yet been done. The Administration is still waiting and hoping for things to get better instead of acting to make them better.

It is all very well to hope for an upturn, but in the meantime the recession has produced anxiety and suffering in the nation. Millions of families have felt its effects in unemployment, declining take-home pay, and disappearing profits.

IT HAS resulted in the loss to the nation of hundreds of millions of hours of productive labor that can never be recouped. It has cost millions of tons of steel, millions of feet of timber, millions of pounds of copper, refrigerators, automobiles and washing machines. All of these and countless other products could have been added to the nation's supply in the past few months. With industries shut down or on short schedules, they were simply not produced. As a result, prices stay high or go higher in the fact of shrinking demand.

THESE effects of the recession are close at hand. They are readily seen by anyone who has not been blinded by his own irresponsible optimism. What is not so apparent are the potential international implications of the recession.

People at home cannot be expected to concentrate on long-range international problems when the installment collector is knocking at the door.

The Administration's obvious concern with foreign aid and reciprocal trade programs is not going to impress them very deeply when the same Administration whistles off domestic economic problems.

Nor is that the only adverse international consequence of the recession. The free nations are now knit together in various defense and political arrangements to safeguard peace. We need these ties for our national security and we need them for the foreign trade they make possible.

IN 1957, FOR example, our exports amounted to almost $20 billion, not an insignificant part of the national income. Moreover, while this trade is important to this country, it is a matter of desperate necessity to some of the nations that are closest to us.

The United States is at the center of the complex free-world trading relations. Any prolonged slump in this country will hit others many times harder than it hits us. It will jeopardize their free existence and propel them into a desperate rivalry for trade wherever they can find it.

If that happens, what will be the impact on the defense and political arrangements which sustain freedom in the world? With people abroad as with people at home, spuds are likely to become more important than sputniks. In short, any prolonged slump in this country is bound to wreak havoc with the position of the United States and freedom in the world.

Where To Prime Pump Is Puzzle For Ike

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The question is where to begin priming the pumps to start money circulating again and start the country back on the road to full prosperity.

The idea of trying to stimulate the home building industry for this purpose has been gaining adherents. Even the Eisenhower administration seems to be leaning that way.

This is indicated by the new bill prepared by Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, as an offset to the more liberal measure introduced by Senate Housing Subcommittee John Sparkman.

The argument of housing lobby leaders is that a 25 per cent pick-up in their business, to bring it back to 1955 levels, would mean 100,000 more jobs on-site and another 100,000 jobs off-site for their lumber and materials supply.

Furthermore, since every new housing unit means another $1,500 in purchases of furniture and household goods, still another 100,000 jobs might be created indirectly.

ADVANTAGES which a housing boom would have over a big public works program, as a quick stimulus to business, are obvious. Home building is mostly small business. It is widespread. There is need for additional housing in almost every part of the country. New housing can be started on short notice, with comparatively little planning.

Big public works programs, on the other hand, take 12 to 18 months to get started. There must be elaborate planning. Projects can be started only at carefully selected sites. And not every community in the country could be benefited.

Even highways take longer to get started. They require elaborate surveys and often lengthy proceedings on site acquisitions before actual construction can begin.

For this reason, highways and public works are being considered as second and third steps in the recovery program. They would be used only if the recession is protracted.

For still other reasons, the idea of using a tax cut as a first business stimulant has been losing support.

EVEN THE Joint Congressional Economic Committee recommends no tax cut unless monetary controls, credit expansion and government spending programs fail to stem the recession.

Sen. Paul Douglas files a lone dissent on this point. He believes that a one-year, $100 increase in personal exemption or a cut of from 20 to 15 per cent tax on the first $1,000 of net income would start spending again.

As a further stimulus to spending, Senator Douglas would also repeal federal excise taxes on household appliances, leather goods and a few other consumer items.

The objection to the Douglas tax cut proposals is that they would give the average family only about $20 to $30 more purchasing power a year. This isn't even a down payment on a new car. And the auto industry needs help, too.

In the aggregate, the $100 increase in personal exemption would cost the Treasury an estimated 2.75 billion dollars. The 20 to 15 per cent tax rate cut on the first $1,000 of net income would cost the Treasury an estimated 3.5 billion.

IF FEDERAL tax receipts are out that much, the budget will be further unbalanced and the government will have to go that much deeper into debt. Interest costs alone on this much more debt would be 80 to 100 million dollars a year. The effect would be inflationary.

The three billion dollars, more or less, which go into a tax cut is just about the size of this year's expanded missile production program. If the government would be for payrolls. It would be spent, ultimately, to stimulate business just as tax-cut money would be spent, though not by so many people.

If, however, some of this money could be channeled into depressed areas like cut-back auto production centers, it would be a real stimulant. More attention to depressed areas two and three years ago, as Senator Douglas and others proposed, might have prevented or mitigated the present general business distress.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—You put your typewriter away, mail some letters and walk slowly across town toward Sixth Avenue where you are bid to meet your rehearsing bride and give her $5, for gasoline and bridge tolls, so she can get home and get some rest after working all day.

You meet her, as directed, in front of Absinthe House, pass her the $5 and, like any man with a weak will, you say to yourself: "Well, all right, now that I'm this close, I might as well go in."

INSIDE, you fall to talking with Dick Gehman, editor of "Cosmopolitan," and he does not ply you with suggestions that you do a story for him, so you keep things on an impersonal level until Tim Taylor comes in. He waits until Gehman goes to make a telephone call and discloses that just this afternoon he has sold a story to "Cosmopolitan" and couldn't be happier since the baby is coming in June and he will have to have some extra loot for the doctor, the hospital and the crib.

Jim Backus, the airwaves comic, comes in and joins up, saying that he is disappointed in the recent story of the Navy dirigible which broke loose in a recent storm and was chased all over New Jersey.

You ask what was disappointing about it and he says: "It could have solved a long-standing puzzle for me. If the captain had been aboard, that is, I have always wanted to know, in case of disaster to a dirigible, does the captain go up with his ship?"

LEAVING this pleasant clown, you sit down in a red leather booth with Bob Joseph, the theatre man, who is bound for London to produce a show there. You ask him why he doesn't do it in New York and he says: "It would cost $110,000 here. At least, I can do it for 10,000 pounds in London, which is about $28,000—and if the show is any good bring it over to New York and be ahead a tubful of money."

Jack Warden, the crimson-haired comic of "The Body Beautiful," joins you about then and tells you that although he is known as a dramatic actor in plays and movies, as well as TV, his first encounter with a musical comedy has been the most fun in his life and that if he had known musicals were so diverting for the actors in them he would have done it long ago.

ELAINE STRITCH comes in, a tall, slender, blonde and exceedingly bright young actress noted for her quips and swift, shattering wit, but this night she is neither witty nor talkative. You guess that the recent elevation of her cousin, Cardinal Stritch, to high office at the Vatican, has quieted her down and she confesses that that is exactly it. "He is such a great man," she tells you, "and such a good man. I know he will be happy and useful at the Vatican."

ANNE SEYMOUR, currently playing the dowager Mrs. Roosevelt in "Sunrise at Campobello," comes in for a quick, light dinner before the theatre and tells you that you ought to go to the Museum of the City of New York sometime between March 19 and October 5, because this museum, which is headed by her mother, May Seymour, is to have a long exhibition of tokens of the American Cup Races between 1851 and 1958.

You tell her you know little or nothing about yacht races, except that Sir Thomas Lipton was a gallant opponent, and she says that we won the cup in 1851 and that sixteen times since the British have tried to take it back and have not succeeded, which is why it is called The America's Cup.

This summer, she adds, the British are sending over a new racing yacht, the Sceptre, and hope to regain the trophy after 107 years.

SHE DASHES out to her nearby theatre and you decide to have a lone dinner there, failing to trap anyone into joining you. You borrow an afternoon newspaper from the kitchen, take a corner table and have just sat down when, through the front window you see Ken Banghart, the TV and radio commentator, rushing by on the sidewalk.

You think he is coming in, but he doesn't and you don't see him an hour later at "The Waltz Of The Toreadors." Wherever he was going, he was in a hurry and has vanished.

Reggie Denham, the director, joins you at the theatre and before the curtain goes up you discuss the case of the tenement kid who has confessed to pushing two playmates off piers to their deaths in the Hudson River and remark how like an incident in "The Bad Seed," which he directed, the crime is.

He says he was bitterly castigated, during the run of "The Bad Seed," for foisting fake psychiatry on the public, his accusers being noted psychiatrists.

He says that he had mailed each of them clippings of the new crime with a note: "Is it still counterfeit?"

Tax Relief For Reporters?

WASHINGTON — Senator Edward J. Thye, the Republican from Northfield, Minn., is my man. He has come to grips with the problem of whether a baseball pitcher's good right arm is as valuable to him as an oil well is to a Texas millionaire.

The Senator thinks it is. I go along with him. A professional football player's foot also is an asset that tends with the passing years to wear out. This goes for a diver's lungs and a golfer's wrists; for a bowler's thumb and a basketball player's elbows. These items eventually lose their usefulness.

SO SENATOR Thye has introduced a bill, S. 3282, amending the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 to give professional athletes depletion allowances for their vanishing physical resources, exactly like the proprietors of oil wells get. These latter are allowed to deduct 27½ percent of their income taxes to make up for the oil they've pumped from the ground.

The Senator would give athletes the same tax break, calculated on their ages and the number of years they might reasonably be expected to remain sports stars. This is a great idea, and I trust the statesmen enact it into law. There's only one trouble: Senator Thye didn't, for instance, consider the lovely ladies of Hollywood.

THE PASSING years are more brutal to these lovelies even than to big league pitchers. First thing you know wrinkles become etched around the eyes of the movie cuties. They lose the battle against double chins and widening hips, and I suggest to the Senator one thing:

Every one of the top-flight movie beauties I knew in Hollywood 15 years ago today are playing mothers of newer, less-wrinkled cuties. I hasten to point out that in Hollywood mothers are much less valuable than their daughters.

SENATOR Thye, a fair-minded man, doubtless will want to amend his bill to include actresses. Actors maybe he can leave out, because they somehow retain their sex appeal longer. Even when their hair is gray and their brows furrowed, the male performers still attract the cash customers.

While the Senator is rewriting his bill to include everybody who deserves depletion allowances, he undoubtedly will want to include newspaper reporters like Othman. I tell you, Senator, I'm wearing out faster than an oil well.

BUNIONS I've got from tramping the marble halls. Both my index fingers are sore from beating the typewriter. Without the use of these special fingers, Senator Thye, no reporter that I know could stay in business.

My hair is growing thin on top and this calls for buying hats, which I'm always forgetting in the rush for the phone.

In this connection, Senator T., one of my friends ran so fast for the phone not long ago at the White House that he collided with a ladder in the lobby. This sent him to the hospital and busted the ladder, and a depletion allowance for this battered one undoubtedly is justified.

I'VE BEEN sitting more hours for more days than I like to remember. Senator, on one of those little stools in the Senate press gallery listening to you gentlemen argue. This has resulted in pains in various places. I do not know whether these are caused by the oratory, or the stool, but I tell you, Senator Thye, I feel that a depletion allowance is justified.

Every night I feel it and I'm using that word, Senator, in its narrowest sense. If you need any help rewriting the bill, you may call me at the osteopath's.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—"Neither a borrower nor a lender be," wrote William Shakespeare.

It is obvious from this line that Shakespeare never worked in a modern business office.

If he had, he probably would have reworded his advice to read: "Never lend more than you can borrow yourself."

It is almost impossible to work in the average office now without being both a borrower and a lender.

A man who won't now and then help tide a fellow worker over a rough spot is regarded as a sanctimonious churl. He couldn't be more unpopular if he were in the pay of a foreign power.

He is known as "the grouch" and everyone hopes Santa Claus will give him an uncle for Christmas.

Bosses sometimes try to curb borrowing in their offices, but this is rather like trying to stamp out a forest fire barefooted.

BORROWING is not only a recurrent necessity among the indoor desk-bound peasantry, it is a way of life. It is an art form. It provides that little human touch that makes the whole office kin.

It takes all kinds of borrowers to make a world, and perhaps you recognize a few of the following types in the world where you work:

The big operator—He has just got a hot inside tip on the market, and if you lend him $500 now you will be doing yourself a favor as he will be in a position to pay you back double—maybe even triple—within a month when the stock blows its top.

Actually, however, any company would be smart to pay this guy not to buy its stock, because as sure as he does, it will go down.

The bird dog—This gentle soul never borrows for himself. He just likes to go around and borrow for those too proud to borrow for themselves.

The cold calculator—He figures that if he borrows $10 from everyone in the office he will have enough to make a down payment on his house and won't have to pay interest to a loan company.

THE TRAGEDIAN—Wet-eyed, he reaches for your pocketbook as he unfolds a tale of woe that would melt a stone. His life is one disaster after another. He counts that day lost on which no catastrophe befalls him that will give him an excuse for borrowing.

The straitened Romeo—He has just met the most wonderful girl in the world, and with a little financial help from you he is going to take her out tonight—and, in return, tomorrow he will tell you what happened.

If you like listening to other people's love struggles, this guy's not a bad investment.

The wife fighter—"I had another fuss with the old lady this morning, and she wouldn't give me any lunch money. Will you?"

The addict—He is a compulsive borrower—just can't help himself. But you don't have to lend him money. Anything will do—a cigarette, a pencil, a used paper clip. He will go away happy.

Well, there they are—a gallery of the more common office borrowers.

Assignment America

NEW YORK—They say that New York City is no place for the children. But "they"—as is often the case with them—are wrong.

Maybe it would be wise to bring along a leash, to keep the kiddies from floating off on a cloud of ecstasy, but by all means do not leave the young ones at home when New York calls.

In this city, no matter where you sit at any given moment, you are close by a dramatic adventure which can be enjoyed for free.

And these wonders—the curious museums, the historic landmarks, the beautiful parks, the eerie houses, the educational exhibits—rarely are crowded. New York children, having been brought up by engrossed New York parents, usually are as confined to their own little neighborhoods as Emily is to her backyard in Coshcocton.

A N. Y. C. "see it yourself" guide lists more than 100 admission-less attractions, which will probably come as something of a shock to New York visitors whose "beat" is Times Square, the Empire State and the Latin Quarter.

INCLUDED AMONG unusual sights: a Brooklyn "Children's Museum," where exhibits are arranged at stunted eye-level and electric trains controlled by push buttons can be operated by visitors; Capt. William Kidd House, overlooking East River, where the pirate was a prominent resident from 1690; the talking mail box, where one can hash over philatelic ideas with a postal drop; the New York stock exchange where the youngsters can be shown first-hand why daddy is not always pleasant at dinner.

In the unlikely event that the visiting children run afoul of Washington Arch, or bump into the woodwork of 75½ Bedford Street (the narrowest house in New York, formerly occupied by Edna St. Vincent Millay and Lionel Barrymore—at different times, of course), there is always the Oliffe drug store to visit.

This is the oldest pharmacy in continuous operation in America, and people with black eyes still may buy leeches there.

THE MAN WHO offers this booklet on free-see in New York to his friends is Julius Manger Jr., a hotel man with a chain of numerous hosteleries and numerous children. Manger (pronounced like "anger") is currently annoyed.

"New York is not only the most exciting and educational spot to bring children—it could be the least expensive," Manger says. "But it is the only sizable city in the U.S. that so far has refused to okay a 'family rate plan' in its hotels. That discourages a lot of families from coming."

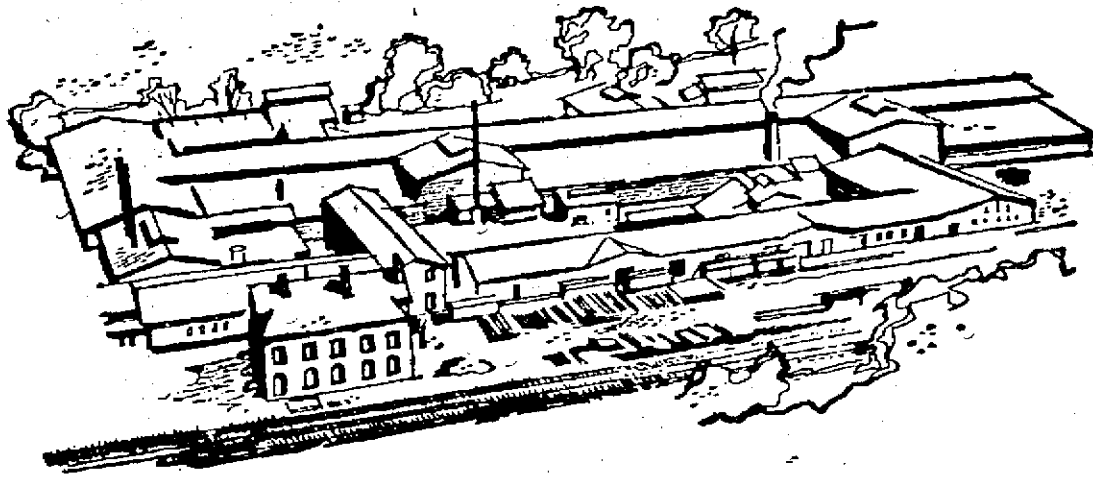

The plan, which enables children under 14 to stay without charge in the same room with parents, is consistently turned down by a few hotel owners in New York. The result is that none of the hotels can cut their rates, and the price of a family bunking in Manhattan is enormous.

"My father came from a family of 10, my mother from a family of six—and I have seven kids of my own," says Manger, "so I feel for the problem."

Obviously, there are too many bachelors in the business.

...from the 75th milestone

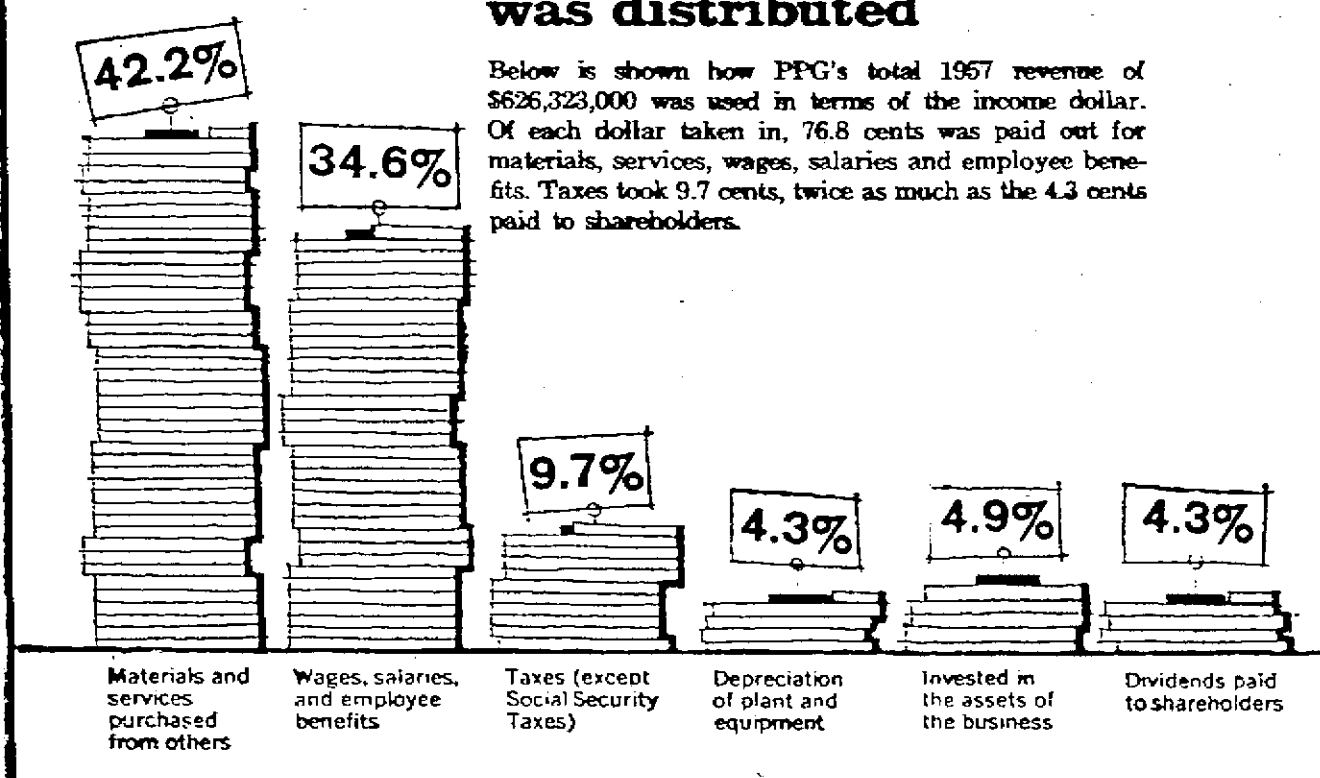

How PPG fared in 1957

In 1957, PPG established a new high in sales for the third successive year. Consolidated net sales of $620,803,000 plus $5,520,000 from investments gave PPG a total revenue of $626,323,000. Notwithstanding the sharp decline in the fourth quarter of 1957, the high level of sales during the first three quarters, made possible by the operation of the newly completed and expanded facilities, accounted for the highest sales in PPG's history.

During 1957 a total of $64,003,000 was spent for expansion, replacement and modernization of manufacturing facilities. Research and engineering development spending, exclusive of capital expenditures, amounted to $12,645,000 in 1957, an increase of more than 200 per cent over ten years ago.

How 1957 revenue was distributed

Below is shown how PPG's total 1957 revenue of $626,323,000 was used in terms of the income dollar. Of each dollar taken in, 76.8 cents was paid out for materials, services, wages, salaries and employee benefits. Taxes took 9.7 cents, twice as much as the 4.3 cents paid to shareholders.

THIS YEAR—1958—Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company observes its 75th Anniversary. Back in 1883 PPG made one product—plate glass—in one plant with 200 employees. Through the years PPG diversified manufacturing operations and set up its own merchandising system. As PPG passes the 75th milestone, it produces glass, paints and brushes, chemicals, fiber glass, metals and other products. Today it has 47 plants and 403 merchandising branches, stores and sales offices in the United States and Canada; 35,300 employees and 20,000 shareholders.

PPG's most valuable asset in recording its many accomplishments is loyal and conscientious people: the people who manage the enterprise; the people who make and sell its products; the people who share ownership. For 75 years "Pittsburgh People" have worked cooperatively to make PPG the symbol of quality and service to millions of Americans.

Looking to the future, PPG is confident that opportunities for the sale of its products will multiply as the general level of business rises. A matter of serious concern, however, is the increasing cost of doing business in the highly competitive markets PPG serves. PPG's future growth is dependent to a great degree upon the cooperation of all employees in conserving manpower and materials and in improving the quantity and quality of production, thereby making it possible for PPG products to compete effectively in the market.

This is particularly true in glass operations which face constantly increasing competition from both foreign and domestic sources paying lower wages than PPG. To emphasize the vital necessity of reducing operating costs, a program called "Operation Understanding" is being carried on in the Glass Division. Employee response to this program has been encouraging—but this is not enough. Significant reductions in the cost of operations must be made, especially through the adoption of more realistic working agreements, if PPG is to continue to provide jobs with good pay for its employees, which add up to substantial payrolls in our plant communities.

1957 WAS IMPORTANT AT WORKS 7

Pittsburgh Plate's new glass plant here went into operation in 1957, and at the end of the year 726 men and women were employed at Works 7 and over $2,839,427 had been paid out in wages and salaries during the year.

United Lutheran Women Organize At St. Paul's, Elect

The women of the congregation of St. Paul's Lutheran Church met Tuesday in the church to organize "The United Lutheran Church Women of St. Paul's Lutheran Church."

The meeting was opened with the singing of "This Is My Father's World" with Mrs. Harold Fishell as accompanist. Mrs. Duke W. Burger led the devotional service and Mrs. Raymond Hewitt conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Harold Fearer, a member of the steering committee, read the constitution and by-laws and they were adopted.

The purpose of the organization is to extend to every woman an additional opportunity to participate in the program of the United Lutheran Church in America at home and overseas through worship, study, fellowship, service and offerings. The group was divided into eight circles which will meet monthly, with all circle members meeting together quarterly in a general meeting.

SRC Starts Baltimore Expressway

Northeast Pike
May Be Slow One
In Construction

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Roads Commission has decided to go ahead with the Northeast Expressway project from Baltimore to Aberdeen, even though it may be a slow process.

The first stretch will be some 2 1/2 miles from the Baltimore City line to the Baltimore County Beltway, at a cost of 4 million dollars.

This section will be a free road instead of the toll highway the State Roads Commission had hoped to build in order to speed the work.

The commission gave a go-ahead yesterday for piecemeal building as an alternative when Senate Bill 115 failed in the Legislature last week.

The commission's decision to proceed with as much of the expressway as federal interstate funds would permit.

The legislative bill would have granted the roads commission authority to issue 38 million dollars worth of 15-year bonds to finance construction of the expressway in whole or in part as a toll highway.

Commission Chairman Robert O. Bonnell explained that at the end of 10 or 11 years the commission would have used federal highway funds to pay off the bonds. Then tolls would have been removed from the expressway.

Bonnell noted that the whole 30-mile project, from Baltimore to Maryland 22 and then east to U.S. 40 at Aberdeen, would have been considerably cheaper than building the turnpike a few miles at a time.

The commission also announced that the Williamsport Bridge connecting Washington County with West Virginia would become free of tolls April 1.

The SRC had promised four years ago when it bought the span that tolls would be removed in about four years. The bridge carries interstate traffic of U.S. 11.

CALLS CONFERENCE — Manuel Carnidnal Arteaga, above, archbishop of Havana, has called an emergency conference of Cuba's high ranking Roman Catholic clergy to consider what can be done to bring order to the rebellion-torn island. Poland Plans Farm Break Up

WARSAW (INS) — Poland's Communist government plans to break up some state farms and sell them to peasants.

A bill presented in Parliament yesterday by Agriculture Minister Edward Ochab proposes the sale of 741,000 acres of state farm land in the thinly populated, former German territories to the north.

Ochab, one of Poland's most influential Communists, said it was hoped that several thousand small farmers from the heavily populated southern districts would buy the land.

The farms, 37 to 49 acres in size, will sell for from $126 to $252.

Flight To Mars Seen Within 20 Years

This is the third of four articles describing the debate now under way on how the U. S. should proceed into the space age and outlining the dramatic possibilities and dangers that may lie ahead in the next few years.

By DARRELL GARWOOD

Atomic Science Editor

Rocket experts believe that manned flight to Mars or Venus in 20 years becomes a reasonable prediction when the potential of missiles exerting a million pounds of thrust are examined.

Congress has demanded such missiles, and there appears to be no doubt that the Pentagon will authorize their construction. Such rockets will exert at one blast a force about seven times greater than the most powerful U. S. rocket engine so far built.

According to officials of the giant Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., a rocket using a dry, solid fuel could be under construction within the next five years.

Such a rocket presumably would be little more than a gigantic Roman candle, of much greater simplicity and reliability than complex present-day liquid-fueled missiles that every so often blow up.

How such rockets will play their part in interplanetary travel has been specified in a proposal drawn up by the Army's Dr. Werner Von Braun, calling for a space ship which with fuel would weigh 1,700 tons to make the 35,000,000-mile trip to the planet Mars.

The ship would have a crew of eight men and the journey would take about two and a half years, including 15 months spent orbiting around Mars while observers descended in small auxiliary space craft.

But the only conceivable way in which such a ship could be built and freed from the earth would involve rocketing its parts and fuel, piece by piece or package by package, into the same satellite orbit around the earth.

While circling around the earth, the parts would be assembled, either by a remote control system or by men equipped to move about in space. The basic power question is whether 1,700 tons of material and fuel could be rocketed into the same orbit.

If a rocket exerting a thrust of a million pounds is used as the first stage a three or four-stage assembly, it should be possible to propel several tons of "payload" into an orbit.

Whatever course the development may take, there appears to be no question but that rockets of the size now contemplated are in the range of power needed for interplanetary travel, even if such travel should involve heavy machinery such as atomic reactors.

On the basis of a million pounds of thrust, it might take several hundred rocket giants to make possible a single trip to Mars. But the million pounds now sought is by no means a ceiling on power when a 20-year period of development is considered.

In the far distant future human colonization is not ruled out on either Mars or Venus, although no one yet pretends to know what economic factors might support such colonization.

Neither of the planets have an atmosphere that would support human life as they stand, but

Heiress, Not Two Officers, On Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An attorney for heiress Marjorie Waller told a jury he doubts she would have been stopped by police if she and an actress friend hadn't been wearing tight-fitting clothes when they left a bar Jan. 13.

Mrs. Waller, 28, wife of half-back Ron Waller of the Los Angeles Rams, is being tried on a drunk driving charge. The case is expected to go to the jury today.

In his final argument, Defense Attorney Milton Zerlin said the two policemen who jailed the cereal fortune heiress after more than two hours of "field sobriety tests" were Hollywood wolves in blues.

Officers L. M. Schlocker and Arthur Woodell stopped Mrs. Waller after she made a U-turn in Hollywood. Mrs. Waller was charged with drunk driving and her passenger, actress Joyce Byerly, 24, with being intoxicated.

"Mrs. Waller and not the police are on trial here," City Prosecutor Robert Hight said in his argument. "It was a lousy trick for her to charge the two officers with misconduct."

The officers denied Mrs. Waller's charge they made an improper proposal to her.

Will Rogers Given Credit For Highway

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — An out-of-state motorist, who stopped at the Tulsa gate to pay his toll after zipping across the northeast Oklahoma on the Will Rogers Turnpike, told the attendant:

"I'll say one thing about that fellow Will Rogers—he sure knows how to build roads."

Their atmospheres are believed to contain oxygen that could be extracted with atomic energy to create livable conditions in closed quarters.

Friends Not Sure Grace Has Retired

Princess Gets As Much Fan Mail As Ever In Monaco

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — Princess Grace's friends here are convinced that the ex-film queen has not given up the idea of returning to the screen someday. Now awaiting the birth of her second child, the former Grace Kelly receives almost as much fan mail as ever. The palace says she usually gets about 100 letters a day, but with the publicity accompanying her confinement about 400 now pour in daily.

A top box office draw before her marriage to Prince Rainier, the princess had disclaimed any intention of returning to the movies, and that's the way her husband wants it.

But the Philadelphia-born princess has told many visitors she dislikes the words "forever" and "never" and won't positively rule out anything in her future.

She also keeps up contacts with her Hollywood friends and is as style-conscious as ever. And she sees two or more movies a week in the palace projection room.

Noting this continuing interest, friends feel that someday Grace again will succumb to the fascination of the screen — perhaps working for an independent producer who could help her avoid the "Hollywood rat race." But she is also known to want a big family and has enjoyed bringing up Princess Caroline, now nearly 13 months old.

Legislature Reaffirms Freedom Of Press

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — The Legislature has reaffirmed freedom of press, but added it should carry an accompanying responsibility. The resolution confirming the traditional freedom of the press was requested by the Maryland Press Assn.

At the suggestion of Del. Robinson (D-Balto 4th), the House adopted and the Senate concurred in an amendment to include responsibility as well as freedom as press guarantees.

The island of New Guinea attracts naturalists and anthropologists, but its swamplands, jungles and forests do not attract farmers.

YAWN THRILLS PARENTS — Mrs. Edith Helm, 23, of Chandler, Okla., first woman to bear a child after receiving a healthy kidney from her identical twin in a transplant operation, looks at her six pound 13 1/2 ounce son with her husband, Lee, at Boston Lying-In Hospital in Boston. Mrs. Helm was given a healthy kidney by her twin sister, Mrs. Wanda Foster, in May of 1956. Since then both her diseased kidneys have been removed. Holding the baby is Janice Stevenson, student nurse. (AP Photofax)

Tax Fight Was "Battle Of Stairs"

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — "Here come Boone and his 30 men, up the stairs and down again."

That laughing barb at Chairman Gordon Boone (D-Balto County) and his House Ways and Means Committee by a delegate this week neatly summarized a sales tax struggle which split the Maryland General Assembly apart and sent it into its most unusual overtime session in history.

Six times the committee was rebuffed in its effort to get the House to approve Gov. McKeldin's proposals to hike sales and income taxes 50 per cent in preference to any other 33 million dollar tax plan.

Each time it trudged back down the Statehouse steps to the committee room on the ground floor, considered alternates and rejected them, and came back to the House floor with the same distasteful recommendation. On the seventh time persistence paid off and the legislative logjam broke. The General Assembly was adjourned within four hours, even though it had to come back today to make the overtime work legal.

That the plan finally succeeded in the face of an almost certain defeat is a singular tribute to the big, strapping majority floor leader of the independent-minded House of Delegates and to the committee members who stuck by him.

His chief lieutenants were Dels. Jerome Robinson (D-Balto County), committee vice chairman and one of the House's better orators; Del. Blair Lee III (D-Montgomery), a fiscal expert who has headed special tax study committees for the Legislative Council between General Assembly sessions; and Del. Roy Staten (D-Balto County), who helped bat down the alternate plans and launched committee moves on the floor.

In the end backers had to threaten and cajole a few delegates and call on Republican Gov. McKeldin and Democratic gubernatorial aspirant J. Millard Tawes to help give it a final shove.

The sales tax increase was a vital part of a package with a boost in the income tax from 2 to 3 per cent, which almost nobody opposed.

Facing sales tax advocates were these problems in a hostile House of 123 delegates, where Democrats hold a 98-25 party advantage:

1. Election year campaigns which begin almost immediately and a fear that the sales tax increase will rebound against Democrats as it did in 1950 — four years after the levy was introduced in Maryland.

2. A disagreement by a majority of delegates with Boone's political theory that it would be better for the Democratic-controlled Assembly to pass a Republican governor's tax program than to have to come back next year and do the same thing, possibly with a Democrat in the executive chair.

3. Resistance from merchants and other groups on the Eastern Shore, Baltimore City and Western Maryland.

4. A thin blue pamphlet which made every man a tax expert. Published by the Legislature's fiscal research bureau, it listed what any given tax, present or possible, would yield in the way of revenue. This gave birth to a rash of alternate fiscal plans to escape a sales tax increase. A complete tax package could be whipped up in 5 to 10 minutes.

5. Failure of the Ways and Means Committee to bring out a tax program for debate until the early hours last Wednesday, less than 24 hours before the Assembly was supposed to adjourn. It was held up until after the budget was passed to determine exactly how much new revenue would be needed ($33,000,000).

6. Willingness of the Senate to come to quick agreement on an alternate program for higher income taxes when it saw the "governor's plan" of equal raises take (Continued on Page 25)

Fund Drive Started To Save Plant

Crisfield Factory May Stay Closed With 100 Jobless

CRISFIELD, Md. (AP) — Citizens of this little city on the lower Eastern Shore are trying to raise $100,000 to reopen a garment factory and save the jobs of 100 people.

At a recent meeting in City Hall, approximately $20,000 was pledged by a number of persons. Subscriptions varied from $5,000 to a few hundred dollars and the average was $1,000.

Tomorrow the organizers of the "save the pants factory" movement will hold another community meeting and try to raise more pledges.

The plan is to issue shares of stock at par value of $10.

The job crisis for some workers arose Feb. 1 when the Crisfield Manufacturing Co. closed shop. It was a subsidiary of the L. Grief and Brothers Inc. of Baltimore.

A spokesman in Baltimore said the company was forced to shut the Crisfield plant because the old building was not fit to occupy any more.

He said the workers had been offered jobs in other company factories in Maryland, Virginia or Pennsylvania, but few accepted.

Those behind the restoration move here hope to use the same factory building and equip it with machinery on a rental or lease basis.

Campbell Announces Candidate Support

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Bruce S. Campbell, who filed for the Democratic nomination for governor just before last Monday's deadline, said today he had decided to support "independently of my candidacy" these candidates in the May 20 primary:

James Bruce for the U. S. Senate, C. Ferdinand Sybert, attorney general; Joseph L. Manning, comptroller, and Daniel B. Brewster, Congress for the 2nd District.

Note Signers Testify

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — A baby-sitter, a brother-in-law and a carpenter employee of a bank cashier told a federal jury Wednesday they signed notes whose proceeds were used to build the cashier's home.

The testimony came in the trial of George J. Martfield of Vienna, Fairfax County, charged with being an accessory after the fact in a mail fraud and check kiting scheme.

The Williston Branch of the Mount Vernon Bank and Trust Co. allegedly lost $123,000 and the Peoples National Bank of Hancocks today.

The trial enters its fourth day today.

TRUCK STOP—Traveller's Restaurant in Falmouth, Va., looks like a bomb hit it. But it was only a truck. A tractor-trailer driven by Dewey Keller of Hickory Grove, N. C., slammed into the building after colliding with a pickup truck. Damage to the restaurant was estimated at over $10,000; at between $6,000 and $7,000 to the tractor-trailer, at about $600 to the pickup. Keller received the only injury, a nicked finger.

LaVale Firemen Called Nearly Once A Week

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company answered a total of 47 calls during 1957, including a mutual aid call to Corriganville and three Civil Defense practice drills.

Property loss in the community was placed at about $75,000, according to James Loar, fire chief, who said a total of 242 man hours were involved in the calls. Brush fires led the list with 17, and there were nine calls to fires on commercial property.

The firemen were called to private dwellings seven times and checked fires in motor vehicles on eight occasions. The volunteers also received three false alarms during the year.

Causes of the various fires, according to Chief Loar, were burning of trash and other miscellaneous reasons; faulty heating devices; faulty or overloaded electric wiring; misuse of flammable liquids and matches and smoking.

Chief Loar pointed out that although the number of alarms answered last year was larger than in previous years, the community's fire loss was held to a minimum.

A major portion of the damage was caused when the building formerly occupied by the Zimera Body Repair Shop near the fire hall was gutted by flames on May 5, 1957. Damage to utility company wires in front of the building was extensive.

This year there have been four fires in LaVale. Chief Loar congratulated residents of the community for keeping fire calls down despite cold weather which has caused added heating loads on home and commercial building furnaces.

To Construct Home

Paul Morin, 109 South Lee Street, secured a permit from the city yesterday to build a 24-by-48-foot split-level home at 1145 Frederick Street. The frame dwelling will be located on a 90-foot lot and will cost about $12,000.

District Scout Meeting Slated For Tonight

Nemacolin Trail District of Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America, will meet today at 7:30 p. m. in the conference room of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

R. Bowen Hardesty, district chairman, said plans will be made for several events next month and the camporee which is scheduled in May. Future plans for summer camp also will be discussed at tonight's meeting.

All institutional representatives and district committeemen are requested to be present, Hardesty said.

A report also will be given on Nemacolin District's progress in the contest with Tri-Valley and Deep Creek Lake districts in the President's Cup contest.

The contest was originated last year by Dr. Thomas Bess, council president, and is held to create interest in scouting.

Each contest run for six months and each is based on a different phase of scouting. The cup must be won three times in order, to be retired permanently. The first contest was based on the highest percentage gain in membership and was won by Tri-Valley District.

The current competition is based on membership of the districts subscribing to the scouting magazine "Boys Life" and the number of Scouts signing up for approved six-day camp periods. This contest started the first of the year and will end the last of June.

At the present time, Nemacolin District is ahead with 57 per cent followed by Deep Creek Lake with 41 per cent and Tri-Valley with 36 per cent.

Elementary Principals Association Appoints Nominating Committee At Monthly Dinner Meeting

The Elementary Principals Association held a dinner meeting at Moon's Restaurant and appointed a nominating committee. The session featured talks and reports by the various committees. The table decorations were in keeping with St. Patrick's Day.

Green carnations formed the centerpiece, with green tapers in crystal candelabras. Place cards were shamrocks and were done by Mrs. Anne Eberley, a teacher in Virginia Avenue School. Twenty-five members attended.

Dr. Ton van Strien, Allegany County Health officer, spoke. He was presented by Mrs. Gertrude Collins, principal of Virginia Avenue School, who also gave the invocation. Dr. van Strien discussed his philosophy and the health program and his plans for the school nursing program.

This program, he said, is being coordinated with the Board of Education. The nurses assigned to school services are limited, and additional nurses are needed, as well as help for the emotionally disturbed child.

Paul Arbogast presided at the business session. Various committees submitted their reports.

Six principals who attended the Baltimore meeting of state principals, March 3-4, gave reports. The nominating committee appointed includes Miss Catherine Street, chairman; Miss Bernice Thomas, Miss Margaret Doak and John Manley.

April 29 was scheduled for the next meeting. Those in charge will be Miss Kathryn Laughlin, chairman; Miss She was assisted by Mrs. Elsie

State Senate Passes Tax Bills Again

Action Taken Without Debate Or Changes; Go Before Delegates

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Bills increasing the income and sales taxes sailed through the Senate today with no debate or changes in voting as the Legislature met in special session.

Any attempt to renew the fight against the sales tax increase would have to come from the House, which took up the bill. The Senate vote for passage of the sales tax was 16-12. Sen. Mudd (R-Charles), who was absent when the bill was enacted Tuesday night in the Legislature's overtime session, joined the 15 who previously voted for it. Sen. Northrop (D-Montgomery), who had opposed it, was not present.

The income tax raised from two to three per cent was passed 26-2 with Sens. Bertorelli (D-Balto 1st) and Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) opposing.

The Senate met at 10:15 a. m. and the House at 10:25. They received 16 new bills duplicating those of constitutional validity from the regular session and sent them to committees for a quick checking-over.

In the House 102 of the 123 members answered the convening roll call and 28 of the 29 senators were present.

Other Bills Up

Also on the list of the special session bills are two to borrow $13,000,000 for capital improvements and to authorize a property tax of 13.42 cents to pay past debts.

Among the others to be given the second treatment are:

1. To authorize $5,728,000 for a Department of Employment Security building.
2. To allow the State Roads Commission to rearrange building priorities after consultation with local officials.
3. To exempt property used for nuclear research from taxation.

The special session will cost another $13,000,000 including $200 expenses for each legislator and their travel allowance.

They received no reimbursement for the six extra days they put in.

B&O Traffic Off Quarter In February

Freight traffic on the B&O Railroad dropped nearly 24 per cent in February from the corresponding month last year.

Carloadings dropped from 229,950 in February 1957 to 174,917 last month.

This was the steepest drop for any month since railroad business began to slump just after Labor Day.

The sharp drop was in iron and steel loadings, which fell 48.4 per cent. Coal traffic was off 17.56 per cent, and miscellaneous loadings fell 19.62 per cent.

The daily average for February, which had 23 working days both in 1958 and 1957, was 7,605 cars against 9,998 for the similar month a year ago. For January, which had 26 working days, the daily average was 7,799.

February loadings were sharply reduced by the heavy snow and ice which blanketed the eastern part of the country in the middle of the month. Later there was some pick-up.

However, Howard E. Simpson, president, in a message to employees printed in the March issue of the B&O Magazine, noted that the seriousness of the decline in traffic becomes apparent when it is remembered that the company needs to move an average of 10,000 cars a day to maintain normal operation.

During the three months—November, December and January—the railroad handled 125,000 less carloads of freight and brought in $13,025,000 less revenues from that source than in the like period of the previous year, Simpson said. This represented a revenue drop of $1,000,000 a week.

Based on forecasts of leaders of industry and economists that business would improve in the last half of 1957, B&O early last year embarked on an intensive program to upgrade and expand its freight car fleet, Simpson reported. The company spent $34,000,000 last year in rebuilding and repairing freight cars. In addition, new freight cars costing $38,000,000 were ordered or acquired, and the company placed orders for 93 diesel units at a cost of $15,000,000.

But unfortunately, the B&O president said, conditions did not work out as expected, and ever since Labor Day carloadings have been decreasing at an accelerated pace. As of the middle of February, he said, the company had idle on the lines a daily average of 20,000 serviceable freight cars of all types in excess of requirements.

This investment in idle equipment, for which there is no apparent immediate use, he said, is a further price the railroad must pay for the "privilege" of service as a regulated carrier with the "obligation of providing enough equipment to handle a high level of business."

At the club's last meeting, Howard M. Kuhns was named chairman of the dinner committee, the annual affair being scheduled for Sunday, April 13. Assisting will be Howard Graham, William Seiler, James McGee, Paul Lanham, Edward Belfoure, Emory Turner, Charles Cabbage and Eugene Bittner.

Doctor Satisfactory

Dr. G. C. Zimmerman today was reported in "satisfactory" condition by attaches at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore where he underwent surgery last Friday.

Man Critical As Result Of Gas Fumes

Roy S. Allen, 40, Keyser, remains in "critical" condition at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser where he was admitted after being overcome by gas fumes.

Admitted today said Allen was admitted Tuesday and has shown some improvement, but is still critical.

Allen, 92 B Street, a furloughed railroad worker, was found unconscious in the front room of an apartment at 9 Oak Street, Piedmont, which authorities said he had rented.

The victim was found by Rodney Ross, an inspector of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company, which had received a call that escaping gas had been in the house where the man was found.

A second floor apartment of the house is rented by Arthur Grable, authorities said.

While making an inspection of the area, Ross glanced through the window of the front room and noticed the victim lying partially on a couch and partially on the floor.

A Piedmont physician was called. After being treated, the victim was taken to the Keyser hospital.

Trooper Robert Noethel of the West Virginia State Police at Keyser said the heating stove in the room had apparently been burning and had blown out, since the pressure had been turned down low. The stove was located near a door where there were cracks through which wind could have passed, blowing out the flames.

Investigating with Trooper Noethel are Chief of Police Charles Spiker of Piedmont and Sheriff Walter O. Mott of Mineral County.

Local Theatre Property Sold Public Auction

Former Local Man Pays $15,000 For Old Garden Land

The Garden Theatre Company property on North Mechanic Street was sold at public auction yesterday afternoon to a former Cumberland man, Frank Vandegrift.

Vandegrift, Kansas City, operator of a chain of over 200 Hudson Oil Company stations, purchased the property for $15,000, according to sale records.

The property went on the block through a mortgage foreclosure which had William M. Somerville, local attorney, assignee.

The theatre has been idle for a number of years. It had been operated for many years by the late Edward Magruder of Ridgeley.

The building adjoins the Charles Gurley garage, which is also owned by Vandegrift.

The acquisition of the theatre at 125-27 North Mechanic Street has Vandegrift owning all the property on the street down past Southern Hotel. Vandegrift has had the hotel and bus terminal property for a number of years.

There were reports that he was considering tearing these buildings down for the location of a parking lot and Hudson gas station, but he informed the Evening Times that this was not the situation.

All leases on the terminal, terminal restaurant and Gurley's Garage expire May 31, but Vandegrift was in Washington last week negotiating a new lease with Greyhound Corporation, it was learned here today.

Motor Convoy Stops In Area

A 2½-mile motor convoy of 78 army surplus vehicles purchased by the West Virginia Road Commission stopped in Romney last night en route to Buckhannon.

William I. Birthisel, equipment division director for the Road Commission who was leading the convoy, said the party would spend the night in the Hampshire County community before departing this morning for Buckhannon, 152 miles away.

The vehicles were purchased by the Road Commission at what it described a bargain price, to replace worn out equipment.

Salisbury Man Held In Default

Guy A. Ovenshire, 22, Salisbury, is being held in the Somerset County Jail in default of $1,000 bond as a result of a hit-and-run accident.

Ovenshire was ordered held on $1,000 bond at a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Carl Phalin in Meyersdale.

The youth was apprehended by Pennsylvania State Police this week after he had caused $150 damage to an auto operated by Carl Meyers, 36, of RD 4, Meyersdale, on U. S. Route 219, one mile south of Meyersdale.

Police said the accident occurred as Meyers was stopped on the highway to make a left turn, and Ovenshire rammed into the rear of the stopped car.

An 18-year-old Frostburg-area youth was sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction this morning in Trial Magistrate Court.

Donald W. Mason, assistant State's Attorney, presented the state's case and pointed out that McKee had two previous convictions of unauthorized use of motor vehicles.

McKee was apprehended by State Trooper Joseph Stakem and Frostburg Police Chief Lloyd Truitt.

City Fights To Keep Air Service Here

Facts Presented To CAB By Council And Commerce Group

The city's case against the discontinuance of service by Allegheny Airlines was filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board yesterday in Washington.

One of the main points is that the carrier grew as a "feeder" line, and now wants to become a big time carrier.

The Mayor and Council and the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce asked the CAB to refuse the airline's application to drop Cumberland's service.

The answer and protest and an accompanying exhibit were prepared by Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, for the protestants.

Tells Of Area

The exhibit provides statistics concerning the importance of Cumberland and Allegany County as a tri-state trading area.

It is the second largest industrial area in Maryland, the exhibit points out, and is a strategic focal point, midway between Washington and Pittsburgh, and Baltimore and Pittsburgh.

In its protest, the City and Chamber made these principal points:

Service inaugurated in Cumberland March 7, 1949, by All American Airways, predecessor of Allegheny Airlines, was most successful when the carrier offered several flights in and out of the city to provide "feeder" line service to the somewhat isolated community.

Service was started only after exhaustive investigation by the company and Civil Aeronautics Administration certification of the airport for daylight flight operations.

Through the elimination of early morning and late afternoon flights and rearrangement of schedules, the service has become less desirable but is still a necessary adjunct to the community life of the city, the exhibit asserted.

Attempted Before

Allegheny Airlines and All American have made several attempts, all without avail, to withdraw service from Cumberland and Allegheny is certified to service the city through February 1959.

Withdrawal of commercial airline service would deal a telling blow to this area's industrial promotion program which has resulted in $100,000,000 plant construction, according to the protest.

The exhibit said the CAB should compel Allegheny Airlines to serve Cumberland, at least until its certification expires in February of 1959.

This, the protestants said, will give the area 11 months to find other commercial carriers interested in serving the community. Granting of the airline's request for immediate suspension would leave this community which serves as the trading area for 185,000 people without commercial air service and with no immediate prospects of obtaining service.

Potential Unwrapped

The protestants, Finan said, feel that Allegheny has never made a concerted effort to promote airline service in the Cumberland area and has never tapped its potential.

Allegheny Airlines and its predecessor, All American, represented itself to the CAB and the public as being a "feeder" line which sought to provide smaller communities service with metropolitan areas where trunk line service could be obtained, the answer said, adding:

"The little boy has now grown up and Allegheny is no longer a 'feeder line' but has become a trunk line, and now wishes to rid itself of its role of a 'feeder line' service and in the process of shedding itself of this feeder line service, it stands to do irreparable harm to the communities such as Cumberland which it served many years ago."

The airline, the CAB was told, is exaggerating alleged hazardous conditions supposed to be inherent in operations in and out of the city.

Used By Bombers

The airport site was chosen after exhaustive investigations by the CAB and during the war was used by B-24 bombers and other military aircraft as a landing field, one of the few available in this mountainous region.

The question of technical difficulties which the firm alleges exist at the airport were considered by the CAB in 1952, and the board was apparently satisfied there was no unusual hazard, said Finan.

The protestants quoted excerpts from a 1953 CAB decision which involved the question of curtailment of service here:

"The record is clear that... this city... has an urgent need for local air service to New York, Baltimore, Washington and Pittsburgh. In 1951, on the basis of a single round trip schedule serving Cumberland at hours which are the least productive time of day, and with excessive irregularity of service due to overflights, traffic volume at Cumberland averaged about 1,400 passengers annually."

"These facts," the CAB said, "warrant encouragement of additional and more timely service."

Five To Six Inches Snow Seen In Area

Who said winter is over?

It isn't, by the looks of things at noon in the Cumberland area. The State Roads Commission said the storm was moving in from the west and the Weather Bureau stated this end of the state is expected to get from five to six inches of snow before it turns to rain tonight.

R. E. L. Putnam, maintenance engineer for the State Roads Commission's District 6 covering Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties, said the snow started falling hard at Oakland at 11:15 a. m. today.

By 11:30 a. m. it had reached Cumberland; 11:45 a. m., Hagerstown; and by 12:05 p. m., Hagerstown.

The temperatures at noon ranged from 28 degrees at Oakland, to 32 at Cumberland, 31 at Hancock and 35 at Hagerstown. Putnam said if the prospects for a five or six-inch snow were good if the temperatures stayed cold.

The rain tonight will end tomorrow morning and is to be followed by an overnight low of from 35 to 43 degrees, and tomorrow is to be milder, with considerable cloudiness. It is to become colder tomorrow afternoon and night.

Snow fell in parts of West Virginia with Romney having one inch by noon. At Bedford, Lonaconing and Frostburg it was laying on the ground, but was not on the warmer highway surfaces.

From Montgomery County south the Bureau said, there may be three to five inches before a shift to rain this evening.

Northeastern Maryland was due some snow this afternoon changing to rain by evening. The Eastern Shore, the bureau said, probably would get rain or snow changing to rain.

The rain is to end by tomorrow morning and it's to turn milder tomorrow with highs in the 40s and 50s and considerable cloudiness before a becoming colder by evening.

He has had wide experience in mission work having been at one time head of Mountain Missions in Kentucky.

Rev. Mr. Prevatte states that Dr. Martin is in Cumberland to meet with leaders from 12 Baptist Churches at 3 p. m. Sunday in the First Baptist Church of Cumberland. This afternoon meeting is in connection with plans for missionary emphasis to be held next September in the Western Baptist Association.

Kennedy Files For Council At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—James P. Kennedy of 96 West Main Street, former water superintendent of Frostburg, last night filed as a councilmanic candidate in the April 1 election here. He is the sixth aspirant for the position of commissioner.

Married to the former Miss Clarabelle Chaney of Westernport, the Kennedys have six children, three boys and three girls. He is the son of the late James Kennedy, former magistrate and member of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Employed at the Allegany Ballistics plant as a pipefitter and plumber, Kennedy has served seven years as water superintendent for Frostburg. Prior to becoming superintendent he worked in the Water Department for four years.

He is a member of St. Michael's Catholic Church, Knights of Columbus and the American Legion, having served in World War II.

Kennedy said his main reason for filing, and if elected, is to improve the water distribution system of Frostburg. He said that during his term of office as water superintendent he familiarized himself with the set-up.

"At present," he added, "we are a community with a water system geared to the town as it was in 1912." He favors extending larger water mains to the center of Frostburg and to improve the present system to give better supply and adequate fire protection in all parts of the city.

Wilma Lee Shields Chosen PSC 'Campus Cover Girl'

KEYSER—Miss Wilma Lee Shields, sophomore journalism major, has been chosen to represent Potomac State College in this year's Pittsburgh Press "Campus Cover Girl" contest. Her picture will appear in the Roto Section of this Sunday's Press, along with representatives from other colleges of the tri-state district.

Judges will meet Monday to select five top candidates who will be notified immediately and will be invited to a luncheon in Pittsburgh to meet and talk with the judges who will then make their selection of the "Campus Cover Girl" whose picture will be used on the cover of the Roto Magazine later this spring. She will also be featured in a story in the magazine, and pictures of the four runners-up will also appear.

Miss Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denver S. Shields of Romney, is a graduate of Romney High School. She is co-news editor of the Pasquino, a cheerleader, member of Kappa Delta Psi sorority, and last fall reigned as Homecoming Queen.

Other candidates for the honor this year included Misses Margaret Erey, Mary Ann Leyland, Ann Phillips and Louise Fyles. Miss Leyland was last year's candidate.

Committees which made the selection on the basis of photographic qualities included Dr. Elizabeth A. Alwater, Miss Irene Brown, Kenneth F. Haines, Miss Anne E. Withers, David G. Nuzum, Miss Margaret E. Ratter, Capt. Jack Fessenden, Dr. Allen Murphy, Miss Frances Sarullo, Miss Mary F. Shipper, A. K. Van Scoy, Charles Dean, Isabelle Galuppo, Judith Krapf, David Satterfield and Edward Williams.

Health Board Order Against Town Dropped

Chief Judge George Henderson yesterday filed an opinion in Allegany County Circuit Court dismissing a bill of complaint by the State Board of Health against the mayor and commissioners of Westernport in which the board had sought to prevent the town from halting chlorination of water supplied to 19 Garrett County families.

The board filed the equity suit six weeks ago, seeking a permanent injunction to restrain the Westernport officials from discontinuing chlorination of the raw water supply at Savage River Dam.

During an all-day hearing on March 6, Judge Henderson said he was inclined to agree with the view of Earl E. Mangas, attorney for the Town of Westernport, that the contract of the town to furnish water to 19 Garrett County families living along Savage River between the dam and the Westernport town limits was an "ultra vires" contract, in that the municipality lacks the power to sell water outside its corporate limits.

In his written opinion yesterday, Judge Henderson pointed out "the town notified the 19 users that it will continue to supply them with unchlorinated water, but only if they first sign an indemnification agreement, absolving the town from responsibility. Sixteen of the 19 have signed."

"Although the board has known at least since July 1957, of the situation, and of the town's intention to discontinue chlorination at the dam, no legal steps were taken until the bill of complaint was presented to me on January 31, 1958, and an injunction to be effective immediately—pending a hearing, but without any bond—was requested. I signed only an order to show cause; but the town of its own volition continued the chlorination pending the trial of the case."

From the time in 1951 that the Savage River Dam began to flood the town's reservoir a chlorinator was placed on the main where it left the dam.

Now that the town has built a $250,000 filtration plant, chlorination of the town's water is done there. That is why the town wants to stop chlorinating at the dam. Mangas has argued that the town would continue to chlorinate the water supplied to the 19 families if it did not cost the town anything. He said the operation now costs the town between $3,000 and $4,000 a year.

Counsel for the board argued that it was a legal rather than an economic question and that the mayor and commissioners of Westernport are under obligation to continue furnishing the water. They contended discontinuing chlorination would be a public nuisance because the people have a right to safe water.

Judge Henderson, however, overruled this view.

Roads Commission Gets Property On Route 51

Deeds to property along Maryland State Route 51 yesterday were recorded in the land office of the Allegany County Court House for use by the Maryland State Roads Commission.

The property was acquired from Homer P. Leuteri and his wife, Eleanor V. Leuteri; Arch M. Sweitzer and his wife, Esther A. Sweitzer; and Sarah A. Sweitzer.

Enlargement Of Manholes Progressing

The work on the manholes on Baltimore Street used by the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone is expected to be completed the first of next week, according to Charles Smith, wire chief at the local office.

Smith said crews have been working all week on the enlargement of the conduits beneath the surface of the street at the corner of Baltimore and Liberty streets.

The larger conduits will provide workmen with more room to work on repairs and will provide an additional outlet from beneath the street. Once the project is completed, Mr. Smith said, crews will not have to block Baltimore Street with manhole fences during any repair work.

The truck lines in the Baltimore Street conduits service the downtown section as well as the West Side and McMullen Highway.

Similar work also is being done on manholes on Dexter Place and is expected to be finished by the middle of next week.

Both projects were delayed several days because a gas main and water main had to be relocated before the expansion work could be continued.

The telephone company official also added crews have been working all week relocating toll and local cables in the Narrows near the intersection of U. S. Route 40 and Route 36.

This work is being done in connection with the relocation of part of Route 40 near the intersection. Work on the road project is expected to be started soon by the Cumberland Contracting Company.

C Of C Backs Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The U. S. Chamber of Commerce urged Congress today to continue foreign aid as a national security measure, but to strive for a more effective program.

The chamber also recommended a 260 million dollar cut in the administration's $3.9 billion foreign aid budget request for fiscal 1959.

The chamber's statements were contained in testimony by James Tanham, retired vice president of the Texas Co., New York, prepared for delivery before the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Tanham said of the 260 million dollars, a savings of $131,750,000 could be effected by greater efficiency resulting from transfer of the military phases of foreign aid to the defense budget.

The chamber spokesman added that the remainder of the cut — $128,000,000 in special and other assistance — was proposed tentatively, pending final study of this "catch-all" category by the chamber's board of directors.

Textile Workers Union Resume Talks March 20

Negotiators for Local 1874, Textile Workers Union, and the Celanese Corporation met here yesterday to continue talks on a new contract.

John G. Thomas, president of the union, said plans were made to continue the negotiations at a meeting March 20 at 10 a. m. at the Amcelle plant.

The board of directors of Cumberland Council Girl Scouts of America will meet at 7:30 p. m. Monday at the Girl Scout House, Greene Street.

Thruway Contract Okay

BALTIMORE — The State will get a $964,426 contract to re-build 4.29 miles of Maryland 63 in Washington County. It calls for grading, drainage and surfacing of the road from a point one-tenth of a mile north of U. S. 11 at Williamsport northerly to a point eight-tenths of a mile north of U. S. 40.

Russell's bid, lowest of four, was $116,875 below the state estimate of the work.

Assessing Department Issues Building Permit

A permit to erect a dwelling was issued yesterday by the Allegany County Assessing Department to C. W. Redinger, RD 3, Bedford Road.

The residence will be 48 by 57 feet and have brick walls and concrete block foundation. The roof will be of composition. Estimated cost of $6,500.

Firemen To Meet

Officers of the LaVale Fire Company and the auxiliary will meet at 8 p. m. Sunday at the fire hall. Interested members of both organizations are invited to attend.

Health Rules Listed

Health department regulations for eating and drinking establishments are designed to provide the consuming public with good clean food, C. S. Brinsfield, chief of the food control unit of the State Health Department, reported here yesterday.

The regulations, he told officials of some 20 taverns and restaurants of this county, call for the food to be prepared under sanitary conditions and served in clean utensils in healthful surroundings by sanitation-conscious personnel.

He outlined the principal requirements of the state laws which are designed to meet the objectives.

Also speaking at the conference were A. A. Pais, state milk supervisor, who has conducted several milk surveys of the Cumberland milkshed, Dr. Ton van Strien, county health officer, who discussed this county's proposed regulations for eating and drinking establishments, and John R. Meadows, state restaurant supervisor.

A similar conference is planned today in the Health Department Training Center for milk plant operators of this area.

Sauce Lends Flavor To Broccoli

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Chances are that baked ham or roast lamb will star on Easter tables. For a vegetable that goes well with either meat, choose broccoli with a mustard-flavored Hollandaise sauce.

Don't shy away from making this French sauce! You have only to be sure that it is cooked over hot (never boiling) water to have it come out satin smooth. Our own method for preparing the sauce is to use the small bowl in our set of opaque heat-resistant glass mixing bowls set in an iron skillet of very hot water and a small French whisk. The rounded surface of the bowl

Include California Limas In Thrifty Meatless Meal

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—The protein-packed California lima is a bean to consider for a thrifty meatless meal.

Here are two suggestions from the California Foods Research Institute:

Curried Eggs And Beans
1 small can mushrooms
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 cups cooked California large dry limas (about one scant cup before cooking)
4 hard cooked eggs

Saute mushrooms lightly in butter. Sprinkle flour and curry powder over them; mix well. Stir in milk, salt and pepper. Cook and stir over low heat until mixture boils and is thickened. Carefully mix in parsley, limas and sliced eggs. Heat through and serve four.

Lima Chili Omelet
1 cup cooked California large dry limas (about one-half scant cup before cooking)
4 eggs
¼ cup water
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon chili powder
2 tablespoons tomato catsup
1 tablespoon bacon drippings or margarine

Break limas coarsely with fork. Separate eggs and beat yolks. Mix yolks with water, limas, salt, chili powder, and catsup. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Melt drippings or margarine in frying or omelet pan. Pour in egg mixture and cook over very low heat until browned on bottom, about 15 minutes.

Canned Tuna Fits Well Into Menus

There's a very good supply of canned tuna on the market today, plenty for economical nutritious meals.

Versatile canned tuna fits well into food lessons for lunch or dinner cooking — casseroles, sandwiches, soups, main dishes, snacks.

Tuna — a valuable source of protein, minerals and vitamins — has a definite place in the home-making classroom.

Hearty Lunch: Pork And Beans

For a hearty, satisfying lunch for school children treat them to pork and beans.

In a skillet, cook 4 slices of bacon until crisp; pour off drippings. Crumble bacon and blend in 1 can (1 pound 5 ounce size) pork and beans with tomato sauce and 1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish. Heat.

Makes four servings.

FRENCH HOLLANDAISE sauce gives added zest to broccoli, for gala Easter dinner.

makes easy the constant heating and one-quarter teaspoon salt that is necessary and the heavy Cover and keep water boiling up-skillet (set over low heat) keeps (fil stalks are just tender when the water very hot without boiling.

Do cook the broccoli so it is a pretty bright green and is tender but still slightly crisp. Here is our way of achieving this desirable end.

Cooking Broccoli
This method is fine for a bunch of broccoli weighing from 1 to 1½ pounds; for more broccoli you'll need a larger skillet. Pare the outer fibrous covering from the broccoli stalks with a swivel-blade vegetable peeler, but don't remove the leaves. Divide any heavy stalks lengthwise so they and the flowerets are of uniform size. Wash in cold water, using a sink spray (if available) on the flowerets. Arrange broccoli in a deep 10-inch skillet that has a dome cover, with stalks on bottom and flowerets on top. Add a cup of boiling water.

Mustard Hollandaise Sauce
Ingredients: 2 egg yolks, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons heavy cream, ½ cup butter.

Method: Put egg yolks, mustard, lemon juice, salt and cream in a small heat-resistant glass mixing bowl. Place bowl in an iron skillet partly filled with hot (but not boiling) water over low heat. Beat constantly with a rotary beater and cook until thickened—about 3 minutes. Add the butter, 1 tablespoon at a time, still beating constantly. Remove from heat. Serve at once over cooked broccoli. Makes about ¾ cup—enough for 5 eggs, about 2 tablespoons per egg.

Note: A regular 4" or 5" may be used, if desired, for cooking the sauce. Be sure the water in the bottom part does not touch the upper saucepan and have it very hot but never allow it to boil.

Meat Cookery Guide

In general, tender meat cuts are best cooked by dry heat methods—roasting, broiling, and panbroiling. Less tender meat cuts are made tender by a moist heat method of meat cookery—braising or cooking meat in liquid.

Save the plastic bags in which carrots and other foods come. They may be used many ways in the kitchen. One idea: shake seasoned flour and meat cubes together in one of them when you want to coat the meat before browning.

Peas In Large Supply In '57

Due to excellent growing conditions peas were in unusually large supply in 1957 and they were of exceptional quality.

Two thirds of all peas consumed are canned peas. In 1957 37,800,000 cases of peas were packed.

With ample stocks of canned peas in the grocery stores, now is a good time to put in a good supply for use in salads, main dishes or as a vegetable.

They're sweet and add interesting flavor, color and texture to many meals.

Lobster Tails Saucy Dish For Lent

ROCK LOBSTER TAILS teamed with a piquant sauce make a saucy dish for a Lenten ladies lunch.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Frozen rock lobster tails, available all over the country, make a saucy dish for a ladies' lunch during Lent.

The tails are boiled first, then the lobster meat is removed, diced and marinated in herb vinegar. Finally the lobster is added to a creamy sauce, colored a faint pink with paprika, and served with steamed rice.

If you like, you can pile the lobster meat and just a little of the thin sauce back into the shells, cover with tiny buttered bread cubes and broil until flecked with brown. The sauce and any lobster that remains should be served piping hot atop the rice. Or forget about the shells and serve the heated lobster and sauce, as is over the rice: we like this way best because it's easiest to eat.

Lobster Piquant

Ingredients: 6 South African rock lobster tails (4 or 5 ounces each), 1 1/2 quarts boiling water, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons fresh garlic-flavored red wine vinegar, 4 tablespoons butter or margarine, 3 tablespoons flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1 1/2 cups homogenized milk, 1/4 cup heavy cream.

Method: Place lobster tails, boiling water and 1 1/2 teaspoons salt in a kettle over high heat until water begins to bubble; if tails are thawed continue to boil gently 5 to 6 minutes or until meat is opaque through; if tails are frozen add 3 minutes more to the boiling time. Drain and rinse with cold water. With kitchen scissors, cut down both sides of soft undershell. With thumb, inserted between shell and meat at top of tail, pull lobster meat away in one piece. Dice lobster; sprinkle with wine vinegar. Melt butter in 2-quart saucepan over moderately low heat; stir in flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt and paprika; add milk all at one time. Cook and stir constantly until bubbly and thickened. Stir in cream and lobster meat, including any of the wine vinegar not absorbed. Reheat slowly; do not boil. Serve with hot steamed rice. Makes 6 servings.

Note: If you wish to serve the lobster in the shells, reheat lobster in sauce as directed, then fill the shells with the lobster meat, draining it lightly with a spoon so as to add only a little of the thin sauce; if you add too much sauce it will run over. (Serve remaining sauce, and any lobster, separately.) Melt 2 tablespoons butter in an 8-inch skillet and mix with 2 slices of bread that have been cut into tiny cubes. Sprinkle lobster with the buttered bread cubes and place on aluminum foil about 5 inches from medium broiler heat until bread cubes are lightly toasted.

Clam Souffle Offers Nutritious Dish

SAN FRANCISCO (INS)—It's souffle season and two San Francisco chefs offer their advice on different versions of the nutritious dish.

Chef Thelma Popovic likes Clam Souffle and makes it this way:

Melt one-third cup butter, add one-half cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt, and one-eighth teaspoon white pepper. Cook slowly 10 minutes. In a separate pan heat three-fourths pint milk and one cup clam juice, add to butter-flour mixture and cook until thick.

Add three-fourths cup grated cheese to sauce and stir well. Beat eight egg yolks until thick. Add with one cup chopped clams to sauce. Beat eight egg whites with one-fourth teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon cream of tartar until stiff but not dry. Fold into clam mixture.

Pour into two greased souffle pans. Place on a tray with one-fourth inch water. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour or until firm and lightly browned. Serve at once. Serves eight.

Chef Paul Mayer makes a Cheese Souffle in the French style with this recipe:

Over the direct flame, in the top of an enameled double boiler, melt two tablespoons of butter. Remove the pot from the fire, and stir in two tablespoons of flour. Pour on three-fourths cup milk, blending well. Add salt and cayenne pepper to taste, and return the pot to a very low fire.

Stir constantly until the sauce just begins to thicken. Then remove from the fire again, and continue stirring to cool slightly. Add alternately, four egg yolks and one cup grated cheddar cheese, adding first an egg yolk, then some cheese, etc., beating well between each addition.

When all has been added, place the pot over hot, but not boiling water, and stir constantly until the cheese is all melted. Add a pinch of dry mustard and then very gently fold in six stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour the batter into a well-buttered souffle dish and bake about 25 minutes in a 375 oven. Serve immediately. Serves four.

Garcia Sees New Lease On Pitching Life

This is another in a series of spring training camp stories by Norm Gerdeeman, former local baseball star and minor league manager, who is covering major league teams working out in the Far West. Gerdeeman now resides in Lake Tahoe, Nev., where he is employed by Harrah's Club.

By NORM GERDEMAN

TUCSON, Ariz.—Mike Garcia, the burly Big Bear of the Cleveland pitching staff, says he's found a new lease on his major league playing career. The 34-year-old righthander arrived two weeks earlier this year in hopes it will give him a strong start in the 1958 American League season. Garcia has always been a notoriously slow starter. Last year his pitching record up to the time of the All-Star game was 3-7. He won 9 of his last 10 games and finished the season Mike Garcia with a 12-8 record.

"I've never reported for training this early," Garcia said. "But I want to make sure I'm ready this year. Even when I was winning a lot of the games I always started slowly and then finished strong."

Garcia, who won 22 games in 1951 and 22 in 1952 when he was a regular member of Cleveland's famed Big Four pitching staff, says he also has a new lease on his baseball "life" because he's found a new pitching technique. "You know it takes a while before a fast-ball pitcher realizes he has lost his blazing speed," Garcia explained. "I took me a while, too, to realize it. I can still throw hard, but I'm satisfied I don't have that burning speed. It's taken time to make an adjustment. But last season I began throwing more breaking stuff—more sliders and curves. It helped me terrifically."

"Every fast-ball pitcher sooner or later has to come to the realization that his big one is gone. Now I've adjusted and I'm looking for a good season. I certainly don't think my pitching career is through."

Garcia, following a 19-8 season in 1954, began a pitching nose-dive. He was 11-11 in 1955, 11-12 in 1956. "But I think the way I finished up last year proves I'm not finished," Garcia says. "Now that I've got good breaking stuff I'm not afraid to throw when the count gets to 3-2 or 3-1. It's nothing to get two strikes on the batter. The problem is to get that third strike in there. I feel I can do it."

But Mike says he's carrying about 220 pounds. He plans to cut off some five or six pounds by running and more running. NEXT—Herb Score.

wagon than in the recent journey when both Fort Hill and Walkersville won their titles with accuracy from the 15-foot line, is also an offensive forte of the Black Knights.

The team has a brilliant 61 per cent with Lauder also the leader with 94 of 121 dropping through for 61 per cent efficiency. Green, who led the WMI League foul shooters last year, is second to Lauder with 68 per cent while Dye has 59 per cent, Hobell 53 per cent, Llewellyn 55 per cent and Winner 33 per cent.

As a unit, the half dozen dropped in 1,101 of Valley's total of 1,178 points for the year. And 263 came on 428 chances at the foul line by the six.

The Knights open tomorrow evening in the semi-finals at 6 o'clock against Gaithersburg, champion from Montgomery County. A change has been made in the other semi-finals.

North Carroll High accepted a bid to replace Aberdeen in the "B" opener at 2:30 against Chestertown of Kent County. Carroll, beaten by Aberdeen in last week's District playoffs, was the logical choice but has been denied permission to participate because of a Harford County ruling prohibiting playing a game during school hours.

Aberdeen was to have played the "B" semi-final at 2:30 but the school couldn't let out until 3:15 so North Carroll assumes its place in the tourney.

Aberdeen fans, upset by the decision, sought to have it reversed but Herb Steiner, of the State Board of Education, said that North Carroll definitely will participate in the tourney.

Washington, Charleoi Meet For Tourney Berth

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Two Washington County high school teams—Washington and Charleoi—will battle next Wednesday for the WPIAL Class A basketball championship and a berth in the Pennsylvania playoffs.

Washington advanced to the final round by defeating defending state champion Sharon 30-36 last night in the Pitt Field House. Charleoi gained the title round by eliminating Uniontown Tuesday night.

The University of Southern California has won 19 out of 38 NCAA track and field championships.

Giants, Reds May Be Ready To Swing Deal For Catcher

By BEN OLAN
The Associated Press

A pair of home runs by a rookie Cincinnati catcher and a statement by San Francisco Manager Bill Rigney fanned rumors today that a trade was in the making between the Redlegs and Giants.

Rigney, at Phoenix, Ariz., said he was sending scout Tom Sheehan to Florida to look into some deals which simmered several weeks ago. Sheehan will be based at Tampa, Cincinnati's training camp.

Dutch Dotterer, a hard-hitting backstop up from Nashville of the Southern Assn., may help swing the deal. Dotterer slugged two home runs as the Redlegs downed the Detroit Tigers 9-7.

The Giants, admittedly weak behind the plate, have made offers for big Ed Bailey, the Redlegs' No. 1 receiver. They may be glad to settle for Smoky Burgess, the No. 2 man who would be the first stringer for several other big league clubs.

Burgess probably will be made available if Dotterer (.303 with 79 RBIs last year) continues his robust hitting.

In other exhibition games, the St. Louis Cards blanked the New York Yankees 6-0 the Chicago White Sox whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-2 and the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Milwaukee Braves 4-3. The Cards-Yankees and White Sox-Pirates games were cut short by rain.

Dotterer's second home run in the ninth climaxed a four-run Cincinnati upswing that wiped out a 6-5 Detroit lead. Harvey Kuenn, Al Kaline and Bill Taylor homered for the Tigers.

Vinegar Bend Mizell and Bob Miller limited the Yanks to one hit—a single by rookie shortstop Fritz Brickell. Bob Turley was battered in a three-inning stint. Bobby Shantz was touched for two runs in two frames while Ryne Duren held St. Louis in the sixth when the rains came.

Washed out were the Giants and Baltimore Orioles at Phoenix, the Chicago Cubs and Cleveland at Mesa, Ariz., Philadelphia and Kansas City at Clearwater, Fla. and Boston and Washington at Sarasota, Fla.

The Red Sox and Senators and Athletics and Phils managed to get their games under way before the elements interceded. Boston led 5-1 in the top of the fifth on Jackie Jensen's bases-loaded single and Marty Keough's two-run double. Kansas City jumped on Jim Hearn for five first inning tallies but play was stopped for good the next inning.

Quarter-Finals End Tonight In Church Circuit

The quarter-final rounds of the Central YMCA Sunday School Basketball League playoffs will wind up tonight on the "Y" court when McKendree Methodist, season champion, takes on St. John's Lutheran at 6:45 and St. John's Lutheran opposes Grace Methodist at 8:45.

A field goal in the last six seconds by "Ace" Feight gave Potomac Park Methodist a thrilling, 51-49, victory over Melvin Methodist last night in a first-flight quarter-final clash while Emmanuel Episcopal nipped Centre Street Methodist, 38-32, in a second-flight contest.

The triumph moved Potomac Park into the semi-finals when they will meet Maccabees next week. The latter quint whipped First Methodist, 38-21, Tuesday. Emmanuel Episcopal moves to the finals and will meet Emmanuel Methodist for the second-flight title next week.

Potomac Park overcame a five-point deficit in the last quarter to whip Melvin on Feight's goal. The game was tied at the first-quarter mark, 9-9, while Melvin trailed, 22-19, at intermission and Potomac Park was behind, 33-30, at the third period.

Cosner paced the winners with 21 points while Hendrickson dumped in 16. DeaGrange had 19 for the losers.

Emmanuel Episcopal led all the way in disposing of Centre Street. Gibbs led the winners with 10 points while Sharpless had 18 for the Methodist.

Wesleyan Foe Kentuckians In Tourney

KANSAS CITY — Tall and talented West Virginia Wesleyan squares off against Georgetown, Ky. Thursday at 11 p. m. EST in the quarter-finals of the NAIA Basketball Tournament.

The West Virginians captured their second straight victory of the 32-team event Wednesday by throttling Indiana State College (Pa.), 83-82.

Georgetown battled its way into the quarter-finals with a 92-91 decision over Pacific Lutheran (Wash.) in an overtime thriller that capped the Wednesday night play here.

Georgetown is not exactly a stranger to the Bobcats. The Tigers whipped West Virginia Tech, 92-83, early in the campaign on Tech's home floor. Wesleyan defeated Tech, 93-73, on a neutral floor in the finals of the District 28 playoffs to determine the West Virginia representative here.

Four Wesleyan players wound up in double figures against Indiana State. Sophomore Ken Remy, 6-10 center, led the list with 30 points followed by Gary Hess with 24. Jim McDonald with 21, and Bill Smith with 12. Bob Brooks was high for the losers with 23.

Wesleyan downed Arkansas Tech, 81-75, in Monday's opening day of tourney play. The finals will be staged Saturday.

American Loses In Quarter-Final

EVANSVILLE, Ind. — A poised, well-balanced Wheaton College team takes on dangerous South Dakota and host Evansville meets sharp-shooting St. Michael's in tonight's semifinals of the NCAA Small College Basketball tournament.

Wheaton's defending champions moved through yesterday's quarter-final opener of the meet in Roberts Memorial Stadium with a 81-64 decision over Chapman of Orange, Calif., smallest school in the field with a 200 enrollment.

Evansville College's aces surged in the final 10 minutes to trim American University of Washington, D. C., 82-72. Ed Smalwood hubbed Evansville with 27 points, but the game was knotted 10 times and the lead changed 15 before the host team could move ahead to stay. The loss ended an 11-game winning streak for American.

30-Foot Putt Gives Venturi Playoff Title

NEW ORLEANS — A putt that rolled "roughly 30 feet" gave Billy Casper victory over Ken Venturi in a sudden death playoff for the $20,000 New Orleans Open Golf title.

The pudgy Casper, who plays out of Apple Valley, Calif., dropped the putt on the second hole of the rain-splattered playoff yesterday morning.

Tie At 278

Casper and Venturi, a slim stylist from San Francisco, were tied at 278 at the end of 72 holes Tuesday. They were to have met in an 18-hole playoff, but an early morning downpour necessitated the sudden death.

Both matched par with fours on the first hole and each whacked a good drive on the second. Casper's approach shot landed on the edge of the green while Venturi's four-iron approach was wide and landed in a trap.

Right On Target

Venturi pitched out to within two feet of the cup in a dazzling recovery, but Casper brought things to a close when his 30-footer was

Martinsburg Opens Bid For State Crown

By The Associated Press

Defending champion Beckley tackles mighty Princeton. Weirton goes against Clarksburg. Victory and Martinsburg runs into Gassaway Thursday night to start the regional competition rolling in the State Class A High School Basketball Tournament.

The 10 other Class A contenders — all that remains from a starting field of more than 100 hopefuls — swing into regional action Friday night to set the stage for the Saturday night finals.

Winners To Finals

Winners of the regionals at Parkersburg, Elkins, Princeton and Huntington will move into the double-barreled state Class A and Class B finals at Morgantown, March 21-22.

Victors in the single-game state Class B area playoffs at Fayetteville, Fairmont and Keyser, Friday, will fill the four other berths in the big event at Morgantown.

The Beckley-Princeton contest stacks up as the headliner of the Thursday card. This will mark the first meeting between these two teams in more than 17 months as the result of a near riot at a football game in 1936. The two schools' fierce rivals for years — were banned from meeting each other in athletic competition for two years by the State Secondary School Activities Commission.

Game 'Sellout'

The game at Princeton is a sell-out with 1,000 tickets to each school being gobbled up in a matter of hours. The new gymnasium holds 2,400.

Princeton—pre-tourney favorite — owns a 23-0 record. The defending champions are 16-6 on the campaign. Tournament-wise Jerome Van Meter, who has coached Beckley teams to six state basketball titles, has to come up with some sort of a defense to limit Rod Thorn and Jim Sayers. The Tigers' one-two scoring punch owns a combined average of 53.2 points per game.

Weirton, scourge of the Northern Panhandle, will carry a 20-3 record into its Region 1 opener against Clarksburg Victory (15-8) at Parkersburg.

Bulldogs 'Hot And Cold'

Hot and cold Martinsburg (15-8) will square off against Gassaway (14-8) in Region 2 at Elkins. Region 4 play at Huntington gets under way Friday with a doubleheader pitting Logan (16-7) vs. Charleston (14-9) and Huntington (20-4) vs. Charleston Stone-wall Jackson (21-2).

Other Friday games include: Parkersburg (20-4) vs. Triadelphia (14-8) in Region 1 at Parkersburg; Parsons (17-6) vs. Clay Battelle (20-3) in Region 2 at Elkins; and Montgomery (20-2) vs. Welch (11-9) in Region 3 in Princeton.

EVANSVILLE, Ind. — A poised, well-balanced Wheaton College team takes on dangerous South Dakota and host Evansville meets sharp-shooting St. Michael's in tonight's semifinals of the NCAA Small College Basketball tournament.

Wheaton's defending champions moved through yesterday's quarter-final opener of the meet in Roberts Memorial Stadium with a 81-64 decision over Chapman of Orange, Calif., smallest school in the field with a 200 enrollment.

Evansville College's aces surged in the final 10 minutes to trim American University of Washington, D. C., 82-72. Ed Smalwood hubbed Evansville with 27 points, but the game was knotted 10 times and the lead changed 15 before the host team could move ahead to stay. The loss ended an 11-game winning streak for American.

Mims Whips Webb, Wants Shot At Title

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — Jubilant Holly Mims, unranked middleweight won a unanimous decision last night over Spider Webb, No. 3 in the ratings, and immediately demanded a title fight.

He wants to meet the winner of the Carmen Basilio-Sugar Ray Robinson title bout in Chicago, March 25.

Nobody But Champ

Mims, 29, a veteran of 65 professional bouts and once ranked No. 3 middleweight, said he was not interested in meeting anybody but the champion.

The Washington, D.C., fighter, beaten 16 times but never knocked out, started a comeback Jan. 22 by fighting a draw with Bobby Boyd, No. 8 middleweight, at Miami Beach.

Aggressor All Way

Mims was the aggressor all the way last night. He floored the Chicago fighter with a flurry of punches in the sixth round for a nine-count. Webb suffered a cut over the left eye but it didn't seem to bother him. He fought back vigorously after the knockdown.

He said later he was off balance when he was knocked down.

Webb, supposedly headed for a title bout in the near future, was bitterly disappointed by the defeat, his third in 29 fights, and said he thought he won.

But the 26-year-old former national collegiate champion was never able to push an advantage against Mims.

The oldest and youngest players on the Cincinnati Redlegs roster are left-handed pitchers from California. Dave Skagstad, 18, is from Compton and Bill Wight, 35, calls Healdsburg home.

Phils 'Not Interested' Now In Obtaining Yanks' Collins

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Chicago's pennant-minded White Sox hope their 1958 pitching dividends begin today from Early Wynn, former Cleveland hurling ace.

Wynn, the 38-year-old veteran, faces the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Sox are banking on a 15 or Red Sox officials as one of the 30 game winning season from club's top prospects, entered the Wynn, obtained in a four-player Army after the 1956 season and deal with Cleveland last December. He posted a 14-17 record last year.

However, Washington catcher Steve Korchek, who managed Buddin's Ft. McPherson, Ga. baseball team until his discharge, recently told Boston writers yesterday he had heard Don was to get out soon.

The Sox yesterday saw the Phillies clip Dick Donovan for two runs on four Pittsburgh singles in the third inning of a game called in the eighth inning by rain.

But the Sox got five runs in the seventh to win 5-2. Nellie Fox's pinch-hit single, driving in two runs, highlighted the rally.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — The Philadelphia Phillies are satisfied with their situation at first base. New York Yankees that was vast.

This was the club's reaction to a report the New York Yankees have obtained waivers on Joe Collins and want to sell the first baseman to the Phillies.

Manager Mayo Smith said he can't find anything wrong so far with Harry Anderson at first and Harry is an easy player to teach.

In reserve Smith has veteran Dave Philley and rookie Frank Herrera, with the possibility of Eddie Bouchee coming back before the season ends.

The Phillies were rained out in the second inning yesterday in their game with the Kansas City Athletics.

SARASOTA, Fla. — The Boston Red Sox training camp buzzed today with reports that shortstop Don Buddin soon will be discharged from the Army as a hardship case.

Royals Knot Pistons For Second Slot

By The Associated Press

The Cincinnati Royals finished in a tie with Detroit for second place in the Western Division, Pistons' Coach Red Roach guessed right and Bob Cousy won his sixth straight playmaking championship.

These were the last-minute developments, as the five-minute regular National Basketball Assn. season ended last night.

The Royals defeated the Minneapolis Lakers 96-89 enabling them to finish with the same record as Detroit, 33-39. Maurice Stokes, who had 24 points and Jack Twyman, each teamed for three-point plays to lead Cincinnati's late rally.

In the only other game, the Syracuse Nationals took the measure of the Philadelphia Warriors 110-99 in a warmup for their Eastern Division playoff series. The Nationals finished four games ahead of the Warriors, so the first game will be played in Syracuse Saturday night and the second in Philadelphia Sunday night. A deciding game, if necessary, will take place in Syracuse Tuesday night.

Wagon Train Opus Ranked As Top Show

Gilbert Roland Wrote,
Stars In TV Episode;
Garroway Pessimistic

By JACK O'BRIAN
NEW YORK—(INS)—You can't watch Dave Garroway's "Today" show without his extreme pessimism (about war, recession, Eisenhower) rubbing off.

"Wagon Train," with Gilbert Roland, who also wrote the original story from memories of his own father's life, was good enough for any theatre screen; Roland was just swell.

Kraft Theatre's two-man-show (Earl Holliman and Sessue Hayakawa, who scared grandma from the silent screen in her youth) was acted better than written or constructed and it wore itself out early.

Its international parable was "We must love one another or we die," by W. H. Auden, which made fine surface sense because Hayakawa as the Japanese soldier had great globs of sympathy and understanding written into his role.

The Webb-Mims ABC-TV fight was a dandy.

When Steve Lawrence and Eddie Gorme sub this summer for Steve Allen, they'll still be Allen's employees and won't own the show.

Pat Boone also will own his summer fillin'.

When WOR-TV starts airing educational TV for the New York State Board of Regents, it will lose money on the deal, not make it.

It's called a "public service" contribution.

The magician on the Paar show was very good; Comedian Mort Sahl that strange modernist, a gift and intelligently perceptive fellow with a resolute flair for ridicule.

Elmer Merman wants to star in a Western. The Merm needs no guns; she could sing 'em down.

Wide World Sunday will be called "American Theatre '58," but its only New York show to be sampled will be an off-Broadway hit, two brief bits from "Threepenny Opera."

Peter Ustinov will be aboard. "Father Knows Best" has been nominated for six separate TV "Academy Awards," quite a coup for one of TV's dullest shrugs.

Sid Caesar's ABC show and "Gunsmoke" came closest with five nominations each.

Jack Paar is up for three. "Red Buttons makes a TV comeback on next Tuesday's Eddie Fisher whiz."

NBC's "Swing Into Spring" TV show April 9 started out to be a pulse jazz show (Goodman, Ella Fitzgerald, Red Norvo, Teddy Wilson, etc.) but apparently that aim's gone: The McGuire Sisters, square as they come, musically, have been added.

NBC's Matinee Theatre airs a TV play March 25 by the late French writer, Colette, "The Vagabond."

Jetstar Sets Flight Record

BURBANK, Calif. — (INS) — Lockheed's 10-passenger Jetstar utility transport plane made its first long distance flight yesterday, flying from Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., to the company's Marietta, Ga. plant in three hours and 29 minutes.

Best previous time for a similar flight — Los Angeles to Atlanta — by a commercial airliner was five hours and 15 minutes, set April 9, 1954, by a Delta Air Lines piston-engine DC-7A.

The Jetstar made the 126-mile flight at an average speed of 557 miles per hour, flying at an average altitude of 46,000 feet. Its top speed was 572 miles an hour.

The two-engine Jetstar was flown by test pilots Ray Gaudy and Bob Schumacher.

Mary Haworth's Mail
Editor's Note: She has nice neighbors and her children are well and plucky her baby.
DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Our neighbors are nice but we have a baffling situation. Their children enter our house without knocking or ringing the bell.
We have a baby, 11 months old, and they have slipped in and tormented her, yanking her hair, pinching her face, then running away.
Until yesterday I had said nothing to their mother of this—since in the past she has implied disapproval of certain actions of our older children. (I questioned my children afterwards and administered punishment as deserved.)
But the latest hair pulling brought me flying. I picked up the offender—this was his third or fourth offense—carried him across the yard and deposited him inside his own fence. His mother came out to ask what was wrong and when I told her, she paddled him. Now she has curtailed the usual play between her children and my 3-year-old.
Hostile Mood Is Developing
I don't want her to feel that her children aren't welcome to play in our yard; or that I think my child rearing methods are better than hers. I haven't touched her children, except to put the youngster over the fence, as said. Yet she seems to feel antagonistic.
We live between two related families; and the young cousins have pitted our children against each other, and the other cousins. One of the cousins' untruths to her parents and other kin have caused us much unpleasantness; and this same cousin introduced our older girls to
The Board of Zoning Appeals of the City of Cumberland, Md., Thursday, March 13, 1958, at 4:00 o'clock P. M., to hear the following appeal:
John E. Mertens, 1308 Holland Street, who has made application to occupy a lot of 10 N. 13 and 25 feet of Lot 13, Holland Street. Heir Addition. The subject of this appeal is to have a concrete block foundation, brick veneer walls, asphalt shingle roof, measuring 48 feet wide x 25 feet long, 18 feet high, situated on the East side of the lot, and owned by the applicant. At the said time and place, any person may appear and testify as to the use of the said premises or object to the issuance of said occupancy permit.

Mary Haworth's Mail
Editor's Note: She has nice neighbors and her children are well and plucky her baby.
DEAR MARY HAWORTH: Our neighbors are nice but we have a baffling situation. Their children enter our house without knocking or ringing the bell.
We have a baby, 11 months old, and they have slipped in and tormented her, yanking her hair, pinching her face, then running away.
Until yesterday I had said nothing to their mother of this—since in the past she has implied disapproval of certain actions of our older children. (I questioned my children afterwards and administered punishment as deserved.)
But the latest hair pulling brought me flying. I picked up the offender—this was his third or fourth offense—carried him across the yard and deposited him inside his own fence. His mother came out to ask what was wrong and when I told her, she paddled him. Now she has curtailed the usual play between her children and my 3-year-old.
Hostile Mood Is Developing
I don't want her to feel that her children aren't welcome to play in our yard; or that I think my child rearing methods are better than hers. I haven't touched her children, except to put the youngster over the fence, as said. Yet she seems to feel antagonistic.
We live between two related families; and the young cousins have pitted our children against each other, and the other cousins. One of the cousins' untruths to her parents and other kin have caused us much unpleasantness; and this same cousin introduced our older girls to
The Board of Zoning Appeals of the City of Cumberland, Md., Thursday, March 13, 1958, at 4:00 o'clock P. M., to hear the following appeal:
John E. Mertens, 1308 Holland Street, who has made application to occupy a lot of 10 N. 13 and 25 feet of Lot 13, Holland Street. Heir Addition. The subject of this appeal is to have a concrete block foundation, brick veneer walls, asphalt shingle roof, measuring 48 feet wide x 25 feet long, 18 feet high, situated on the East side of the lot, and owned by the applicant. At the said time and place, any person may appear and testify as to the use of the said premises or object to the issuance of said occupancy permit.

West Virginia Safety Plans To Be Adopted

Action Will Follow Recommendations By State Committee

CHARLESTON (AP) — Lt. T. A. Welby of the State Police said that a new West Virginia Traffic Safety Program would be drafted within the next few days.

The head of the State Police Accident Prevention Bureau made the announcement following yesterday's meeting of the Governor's Traffic Safety Advisory Committee here.

More Manpower Needed

The committee was presented recommendations urging more enforcement manpower, stepped-up public education and stricter laws from about 10 subcommittee chairmen.

Gov. Underwood said he would welcome any traffic safety recommendations the over-all committee finally provides.

Dr. Charles P. Yost of the West Virginia University faculty recommended that someone in the State Department of Education be responsible for safety education programs at all public school grade levels and urged training of all teachers in traffic safety.

Enforcement Essential

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Hubert A. Kelly said enforcement manpower is the most essential factor for highway safety. John H. Goad, Kelly's deputy commissioner, urged support of a department program involving a central drivers' file and license suspensions without a public hearing for offending motorists.

Lt. W. W. Murphy, commanding officer of State Police Co. C at Elkins and traffic legislation subcommittee chairman, recommended enactment of mandatory three-day jail sentences for drunk driving and mandatory drivers' license suspensions for speeding.

Murphy also recommended spaces on operators' licenses for recording traffic offense convictions other than those for municipal parking violations.

Unemployment Report Filed

BALTIMORE (AP) — The unemployment situation in Maryland during February was in a word—bad.

Payments amounted to $5,339,083.

The Department of Employment Security issued 192,529 checks. Initial claims filed totaled 28,021.

The department said claims dropped some last month but the decrease was not substantial, and the drop was due solely to February being a short month.

In comparison, payments for the 31 days of last January amounted to $5,925,460—a record-breaking level.

Political Faction

Endorses Mahoney

BALTIMORE (AP) — A political faction in Baltimore's First Legislative District has endorsed George P. Mahoney for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate.

The group, led by Edward W. Dabrowski and Joseph Giordano, is a traditional foe of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, also a Democratic candidate for the senatorial nomination.

Humor Book Causes Fuss At Maryland

Committee To Decide Fate Of Three Student Editors

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — A 13-member committee decides the fate today of three student editors placed on probation because of objections to the current issue of the University of Maryland's humor magazine.

Some think the current issue of the Old Line isn't a bit funny and is downright obscene.

James Borreson, executive dean of student life, took the disciplinary action Tuesday against Nina Fragale, editor-in-chief, and her associate editors, Dick Wilson and Dick Standridge.

Borreson said he "got a number of complaints from students, their parents and faculty members about the magazine." He denied campus police had confiscated many issues but admitted "they're hard to come by."

The committee which meets at 4 p.m. is composed of seven faculty members and six students.

The dean said the editors would not be expelled from school, but they may lose their right to take part in extra-curricular activities. Borreson also said publication of the Old Line might be suspended as a result of the committee meeting.

The student newspaper Diamondback reported a poll it took showed the students liked the magazine 15 to 1.

Turnbull Quits Race For Senate

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — State Sen. Turnbull (D-Balto. County) says he's not stepping out of politics although he stepped into the political ring yesterday to withdraw his hat for re-nomination.

Turnbull filed for re-nomination minutes before the midnight deadline last Monday. But yesterday in filing his certificate of withdrawal, he said:

"After considering my personal and professional obligations, which have sometimes become secondary to the demands of my public office, it is with reluctance that I reach the conclusion not to run for public office at this time."

City Fights

(Continued from Page 13) to Cumberland rather than the reverse. One daily round trip is inadequate to meet the needs of this point or to develop adequately its traffic potential.

The above points were presented to persuade the CAB that extreme hardship would be placed upon the Cumberland area if service were suspended. Halting of service would leave the community without any air mail or air freight transportation service, the protestants added.

Obituary

Over the many years there he became known to thousands of area residents and travelers as "Marcellus," and was highly regarded for his courtesy and politeness.

Building Jobs Greater In West Virginia

CHARLESTON (AP) — Building construction in West Virginia's 24 largest cities increased 37 per cent last year in comparison to 1956, the State Chamber of Commerce has announced in its most recent bulletin.

The Chamber pointed out, however, that last year's level was only 22 per cent greater than 1955 building construction. It cited a substantial decrease in construction activities in 1956 as the cause.

A table listed building permits issued in the 24 largest cities in 1957 which totaled $64,038,242. That dollar value compared to $46,782,010 for 1956 and $52,429,786 in 1955.

The bulletin said post receipts for 1957 in 23 of the largest state cities increased a modest 1.3 per cent compared to 1956, but were 5.9 per cent above the 1955 figure.

The dollar volume table of post office receipts for the 23 municipalities listed a total of $8,239,222 last year.

Church Official Dies

TAKOMA PARK, Md. (AP) — Funeral services will be held here tomorrow for Carlyle. Boynton Haynes, high official for the Seventh-Day Adventist Church.

Flat Tire Only Beginning For Pittsburgher

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — A flat tire plus a curious state trooper added up to trouble for Robert R. Rapp, and this was multiplied yesterday.

Rapp, 23, of Pittsburgh, was charged with taking a stolen auto across a state line and held in $1,000 bond by U. S. Commissioner Edwin Miller.

To complicate things further, the Pittsburgh girl Rapp said he came here with to marry has gone home.

The events were triggered last Friday, when Rapp got a flat tire. Along came State Trooper Richard Garvey. He asked for Rapp's license and got none. So the trooper said he decided to check out the car and discovered it was stolen two days before in Pittsburgh.

Cynicism Big Obstacle To U. S. Traffic Safety

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Traffic safety is just plain practical economics, says an aide to President Eisenhower.

Howard Pyle, former Arizona governor and now a deputy assistant to the President, said yesterday the biggest obstacle to traffic safety is the cynicism of the American people.

Larceny Count Dismissed By County Judge

PARKERSBURG (AP) — A grand larceny charge against former Parkersburg fireman Lewis C. Wright was dismissed Wednesday by Wood County Circuit Judge Donald F. Black upon agreement of Prosecutor Richard Pence.

Wright was one of six firemen arrested in connection with an alleged theft ring at Sears Roebuck and Co. where most of them had worked part time. He had testified for the state in the recent trial of Fire Capt. Bernard Trippett, which ended in a hung jury. Trippett was accused of grand larceny.

Trippett has continued with the department, although four of the six firemen arrested were dismissed. Two were placed on probation after guilty pleas. Cases are pending against another two.

Off To Tokyo

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president of the University of Maryland, will leave for Tokyo tomorrow where he will award 22 degrees to the first graduates of the university's Far East program.
